Campaign Overview

BPMS launched the 2025 Disney Darlings media campaign designed to get girls moms, and gift givers excited with engaging, story telling, cross platform media that integrated creator content and branded videos showcasing the nurturing playfulness of the dolls and most importantly – highlighted the Disney Magic that is created when a Disney Darling is brought home.

The Darlings campaign delivered 38M Impressions with over 20M completed video views across CTV, YouTube, Programmatic Video, and Social platforms.

Both girls and adults responded to the media with a clear path to purchase. Media successfully drove out of stock issues and retailers chasing the product.

Key Learnings

BPMS leaned into both girls aged 3-5 and their care givers with equal spends across both demos. This campaign proved successful as the product successfully sold through.

The Disney Darlings flight ran during key selling weeks, with an earlier than typical launch, providing the stage for a quick sell through. Parents and gift-givers responded strong to the clear product play paired with recognizable Disney cues, particularly when aligned to retailer-specific call outs on ads. Media performance held WoW throughout the campaign, signalling decisiveness rather than browsing when presented with ads. Quality creator content drove the emotional triggered needed for a successful campaign.\

The Disney Darling Campaign drove strong performance, peaking at 86% VCR (11/24) across programmatic video. Parents of children aged 0–3 drove the highest VCR of 84.49% indicating strong engagement with content relevant to early childhood.

All Disney Darlings creatives were consistent high performers with over 81% completion rates

Meta drove 380K clicks to Walmart & Target

Creator Content gave the campaign a boost generating over a 6% CTR

Haily Devine & KT Gonzolez led performance with our creator cut downs.

In-stream placements on TV screens supported shared viewing behavior.

15s TVC ads sustained engagement with the highest quartile.
Visible doll play early in the video helped anchor attention

Gift givers consistently led performance, driving 5.1%–6.5% CTR and the longest video holds, aligning naturally to gift-givers behavior.
