

Findings

Disney

JAKKS Dolls

August 2025

KOKORO

The challenge

Exploring appeal of different doll ranges to unpick which offers the greatest potential for Disney, and how they can be brought to market most effectively

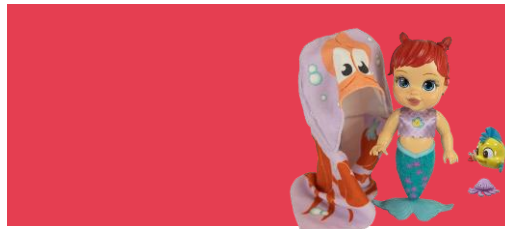

Situation

Disney is working with Jakks Pacific to bring to life characters and stories through physical products and experiences

With currently limited Disney presence in the Nurturing Dolls category, Disney and Jakks are looking at releasing a range, aimed at preschoolers

Business need

There are two Nurturing Doll ranges that could be progressed; Disney Princess Baby and Disney Darlings (with 2 different options each)

While some upfront qualitative research has already been done, deeper exploration is required to identify which range(s) should go to market, and ensure a successful launch

Research need

Understanding Nurturing Dolls

- Usage – incl. frequency, spend, occasions
- Needs – incl. decision drivers, barriers to purchase

Reveal range(s) to take forward

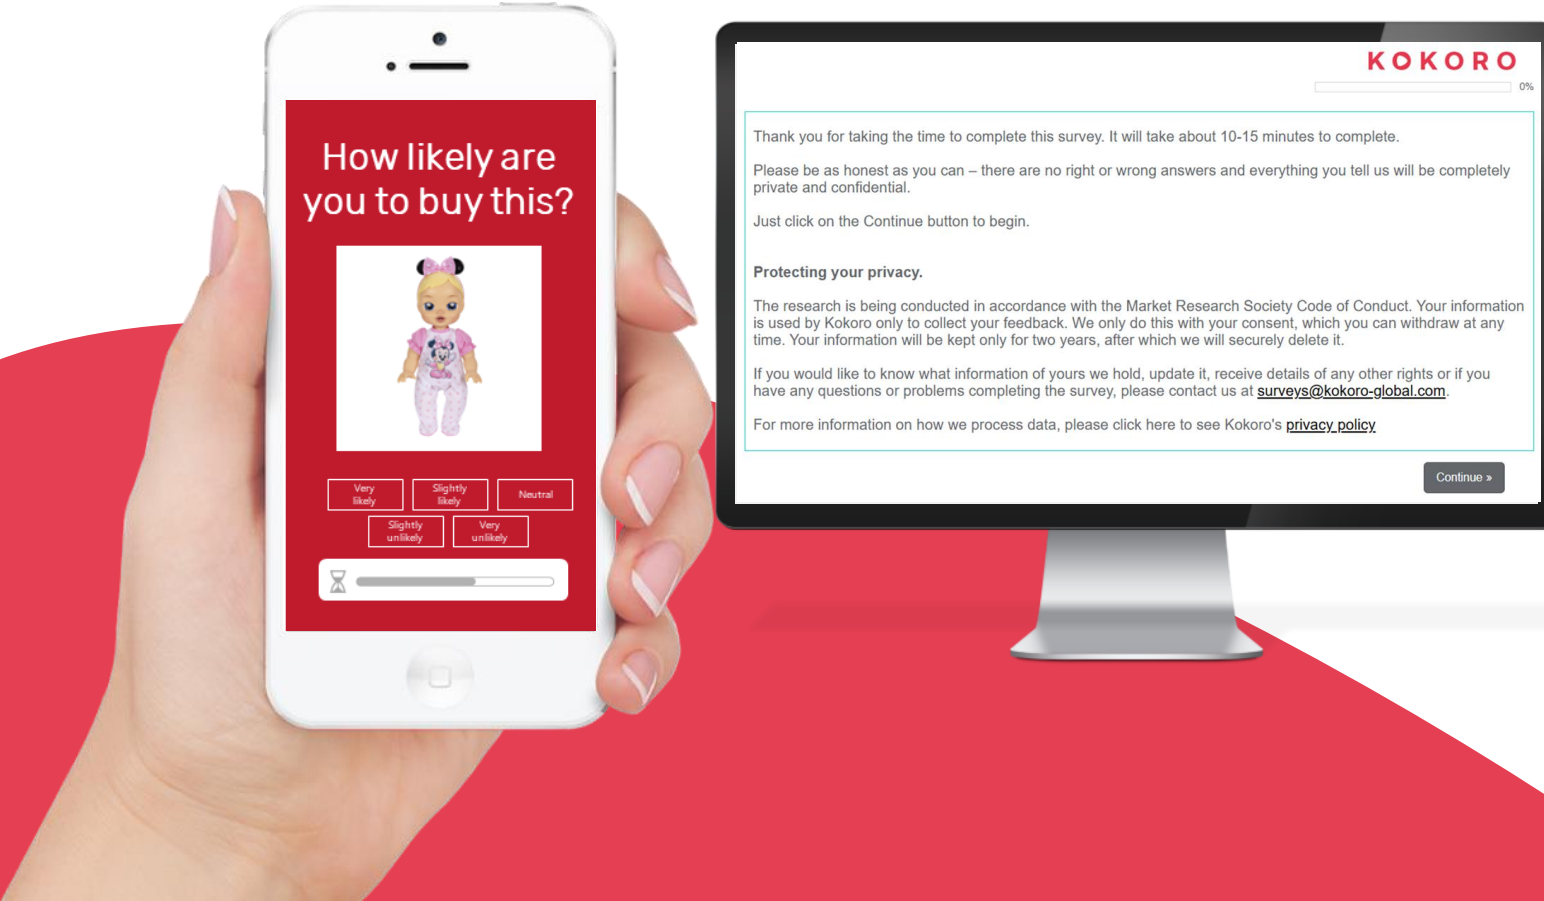

- Strengths and weaknesses of each range
- Role of both ranges – same audience or wider coverage?

Identify areas of optimisation

- How to land winning range(s) successfully – e.g. expected price point, key drivers of purchase

Approach

A quantitative survey capturing a robust read on appeal of each range by market and child's age

Online survey with 1500 mums of daughters aged 2-5

500 per market – across the UK, France and Spain. In the UK, equally split by individual age, in France and Spain, split by age group (2-3 and 4-5). Survey live from 30th July to 8th August 2025.

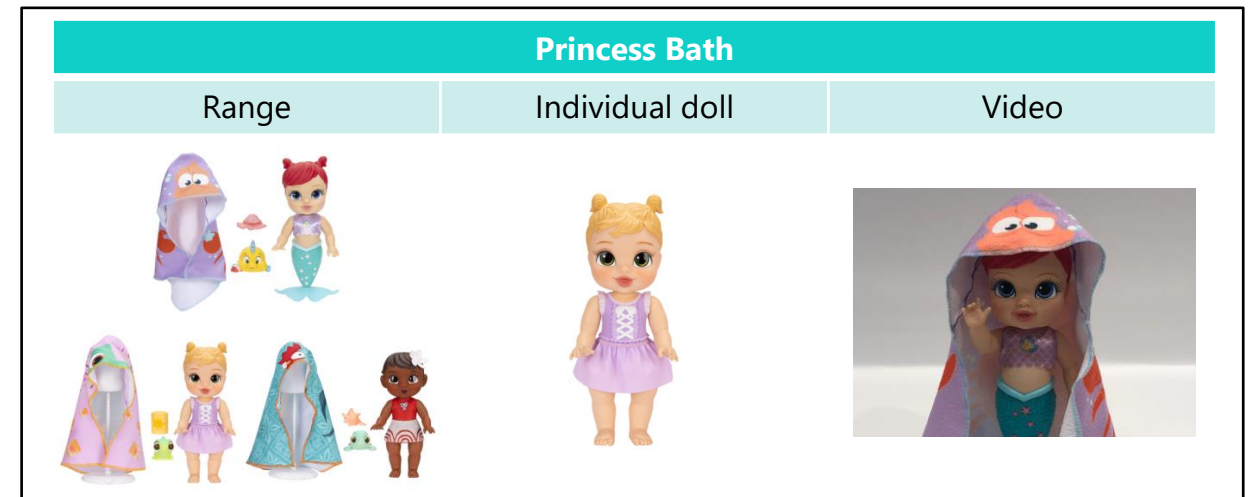

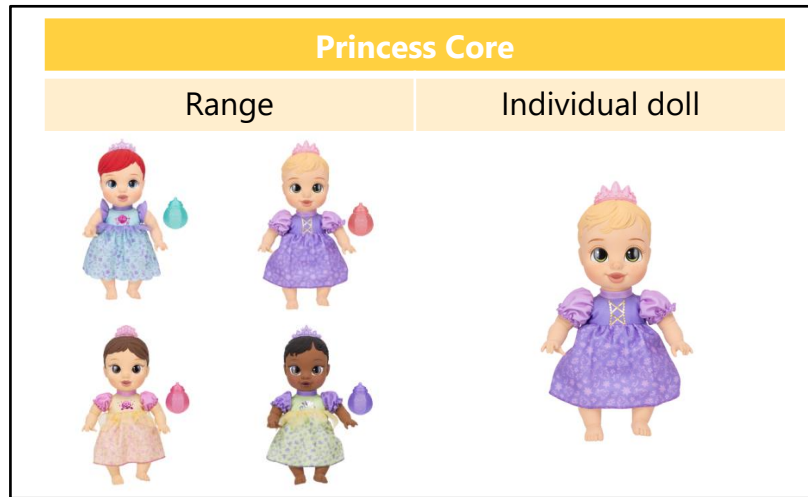

Each respondent was shown two of four Disney ranges, alongside a range of competitors to test appeal and likelihood to buy

Key Drivers analysis was also used to reveal what's truly important when shopping for nurturing dolls, and how well each of the ranges tap into this

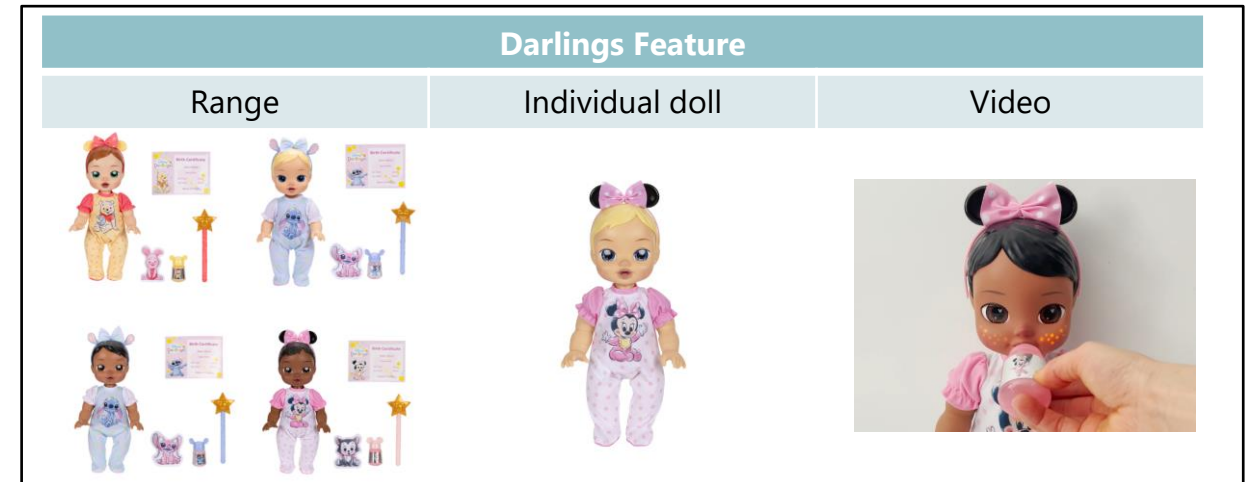

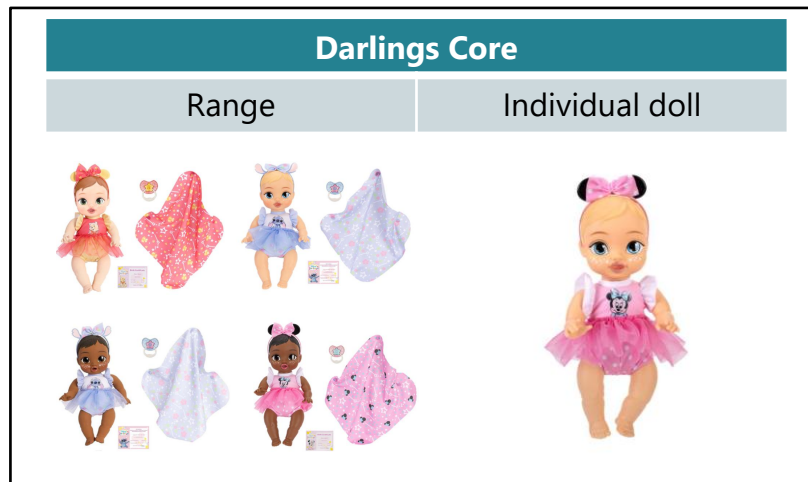

Approach

Here's a reminder of the stimulus we showed respondents

Disney Princess Baby

Disney Darlings

Approach

Here's a reminder of the stimulus we showed respondents

Several techniques to test dolls:

Quick Fire Binary:

- Shown 10 dolls (4 Disney, 6 competitors), and asked to swipe left or right on whether they'd buy
- Tests gut reaction, as shown just 1 doll with no brand or price attached

Likelihood to buy:

- Shown each of the 4 Disney ranges in turn and asked likelihood to buy
- Tests more considered purchase intent, with 4 dolls from each range shown and brand revealed

Detailed perceptions:

- Asked to score a Disney range on appeal, occasion, perceptions, price expectation, and price reaction
- Gets a more in-depth read on each range, asked after showing an image and/or video

Vs competition:

- Shown 4 dolls (1 Disney, 3 competitors) and asked which one they would buy if faced with this choice
- Unpicks how purchase intent fares when faced all the information – each shown with brand, price, accessories and features

Repeated for 2 Disney ranges

Competitors tested:

UK	FR	ES
Baby Annabell	Corolle	Nenuco
Baby Born	Nenuco	CryBaby
Tiny Tears	Cicciobello	Distroller
CryBaby	CryBaby	Baby Pelones
Dolls World	Little Love	Barriguitas
BabyBoo	Baby Born	Baby Born
My Garden Baby	Baby Alive	La Newborn
Chouchou	My Garden Baby	My Garden Baby

Disney Dolls prices tested:

UK	FR	ES
Princess Core £16.99	Princess Core €19.99	Princess Core €19.99
Princess Bath £19.99	Princess Bath €24.99	Princess Bath €24.99
Darlings Core £19.99	Darlings Core €24.99	Darlings Core €24.99
Darlings Feature £39.99	Darlings Feature €44.99	Darlings Feature €44.99

Highlights

Darlings Feature the clear front-runner but need to cut back some features to reduce price slightly – a smaller role for Princess which has less mass appeal

1

Consumer needs

Nurturing dolls encourage interactivity and empathy, with quality the most crucial element to get right

4

Darlings Core

A clear role in UK and Spain, but poor quality and outfit perceptions could hold it back in France

2

The Winning range

Darlings Feature holds the most appeal (with some market nuances) – to secure spend, ensure interactive elements are crystal clear

5

Role of Princess

Less mass appeal for Princess, but Core could tempt on price, while Bath delivers something different

3

Price optimisations

Cost a barrier for Darlings Feature – reprioritise features to reduce price and create distinction with Core

Consumer needs

Nurturing dolls encourage interactivity and empathy, with quality the most crucial element to get right

Consumer needs: A special purchase

Nurturing dolls are often bought for birthdays and Christmas, or a spontaneous treat for younger children whilst out shopping

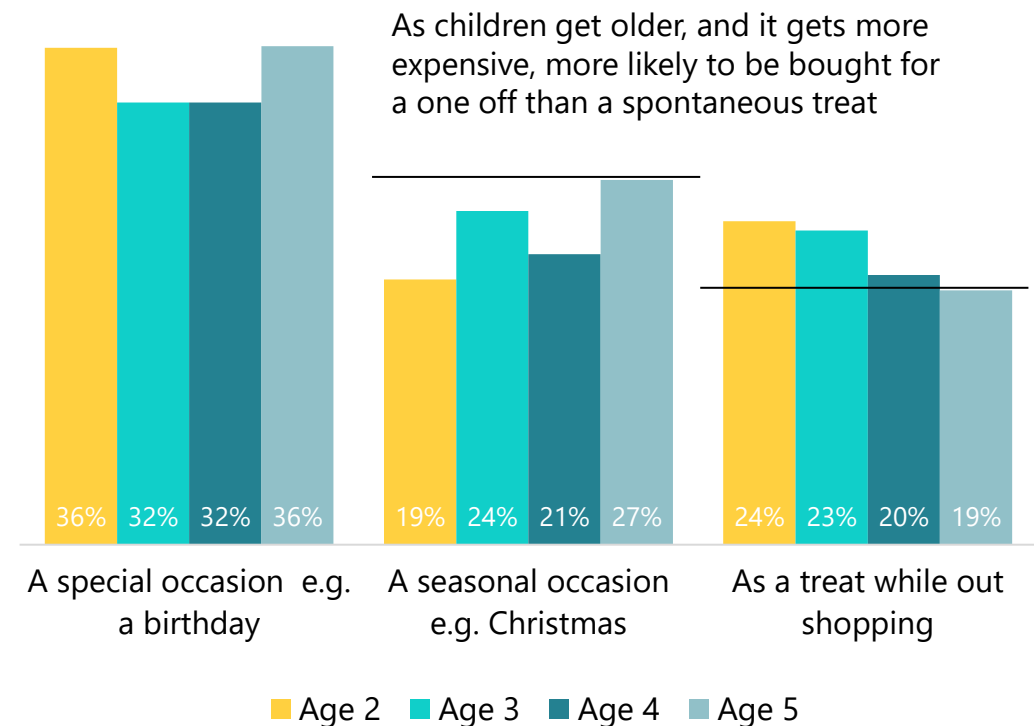

Occasion most recent doll bought for

Total

Top 3 occasions most recent doll bought for

Total, by age of child

Source:

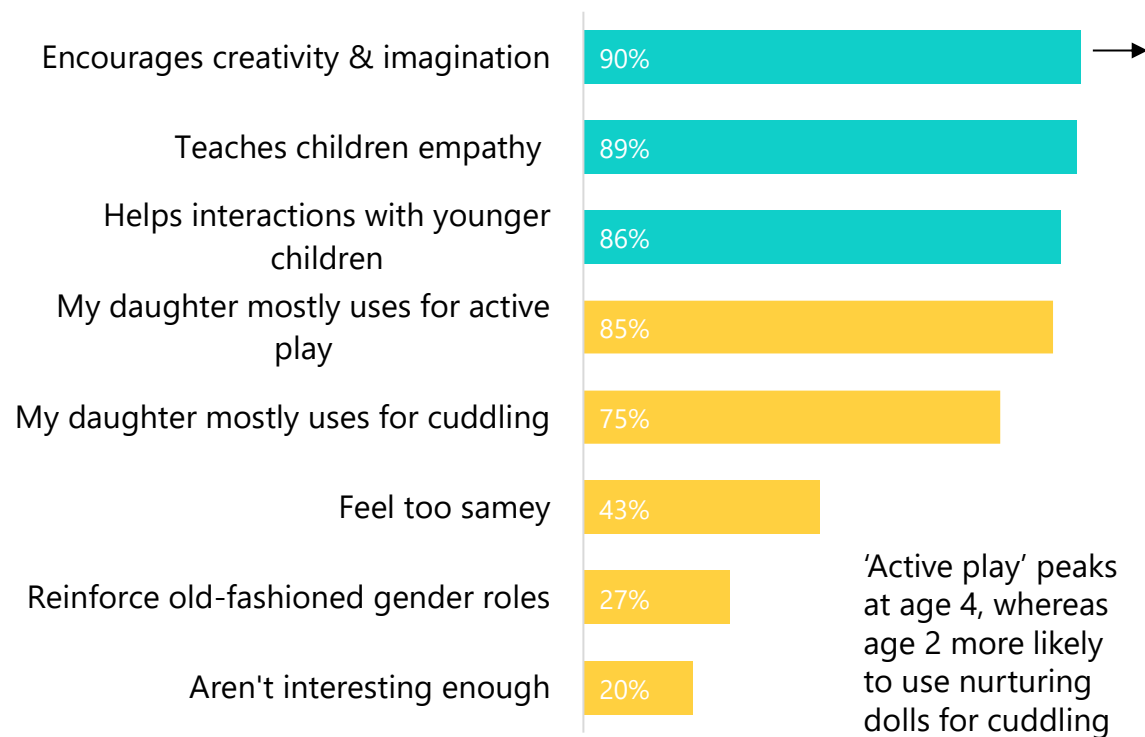

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – A12. What did you buy this doll for?

Consumer needs: Empathy and interactivity key

Well-liked for building empathy and encouraging creativity, with interactive play keeping children engaged, especially as they get older

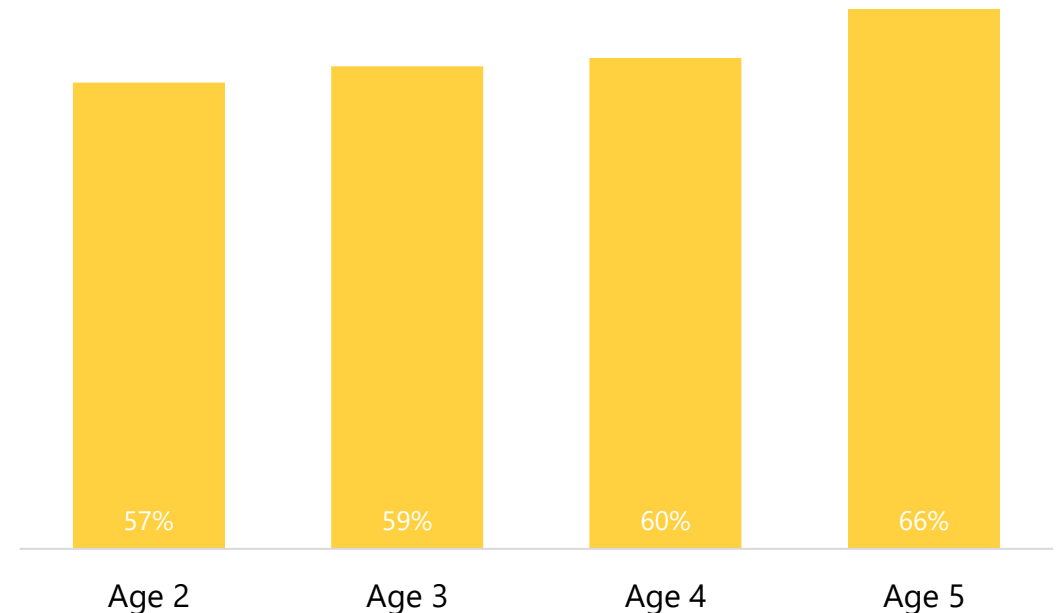

Agreement with statements about nurturing dolls

Total, slightly & strongly agree

'Playing with nurturing dolls encourages creativity and imagination'

By age, strongly agree

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey - A8. Below are some things parents have said about nurturing/baby dolls, please tell us how much you agree with each statement

Consumer needs: Empathy and interactivity key

Further evidenced by the appeal of different features; older children drawn to realistic elements that encourage care, while bath play important for ages 2-3

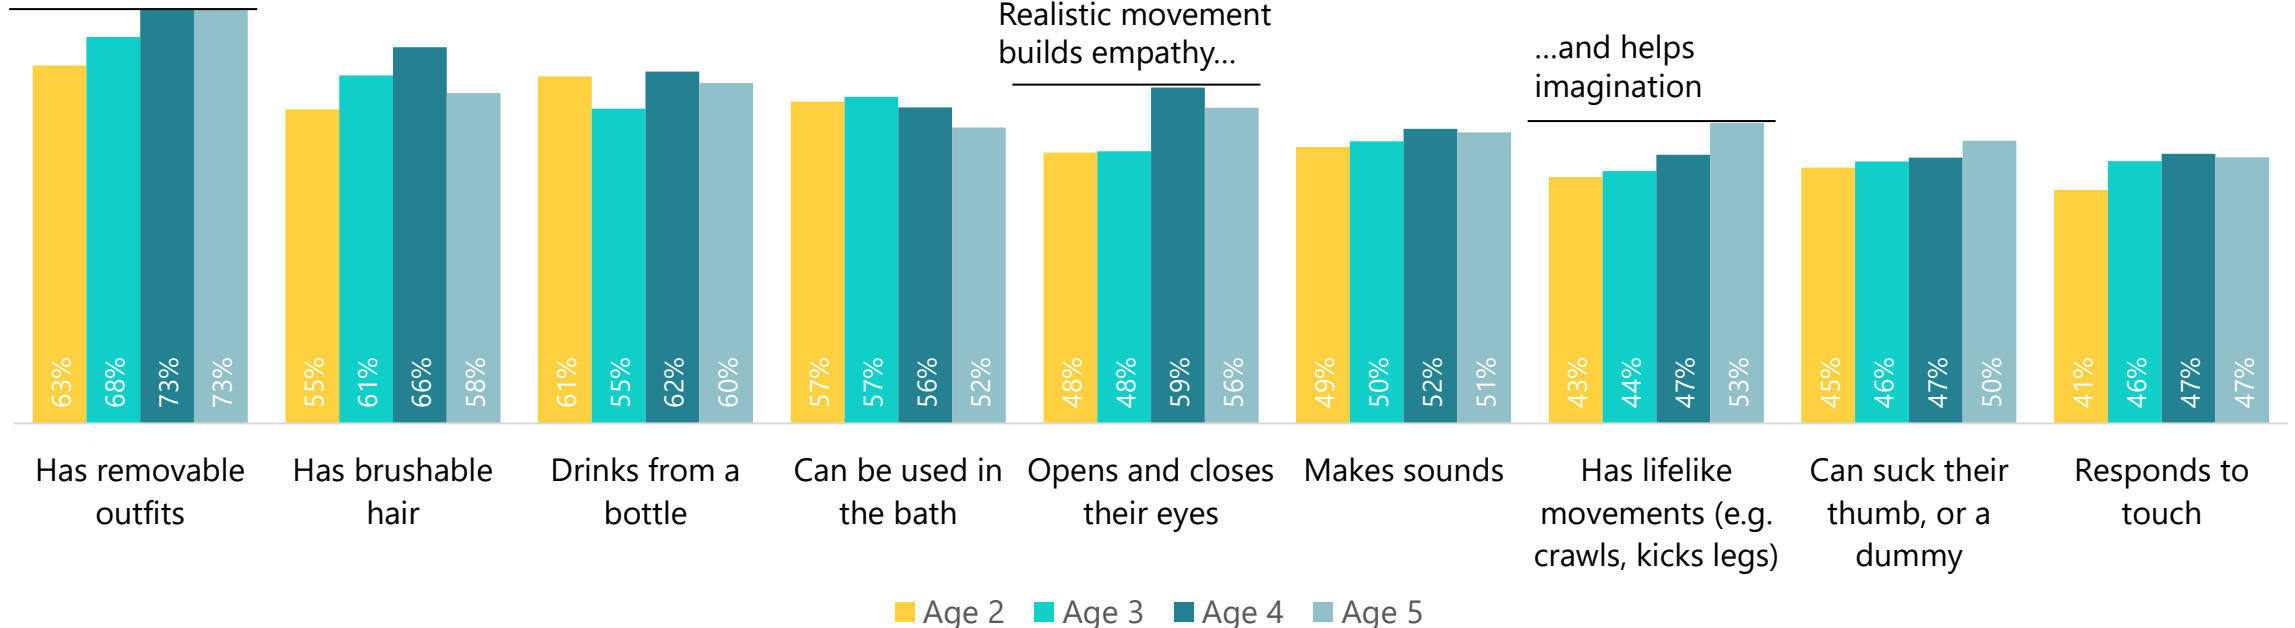

Appeal of nurturing doll features

By age

Options to continually change prompts creative play

Realistic movement builds empathy...

...and helps imagination

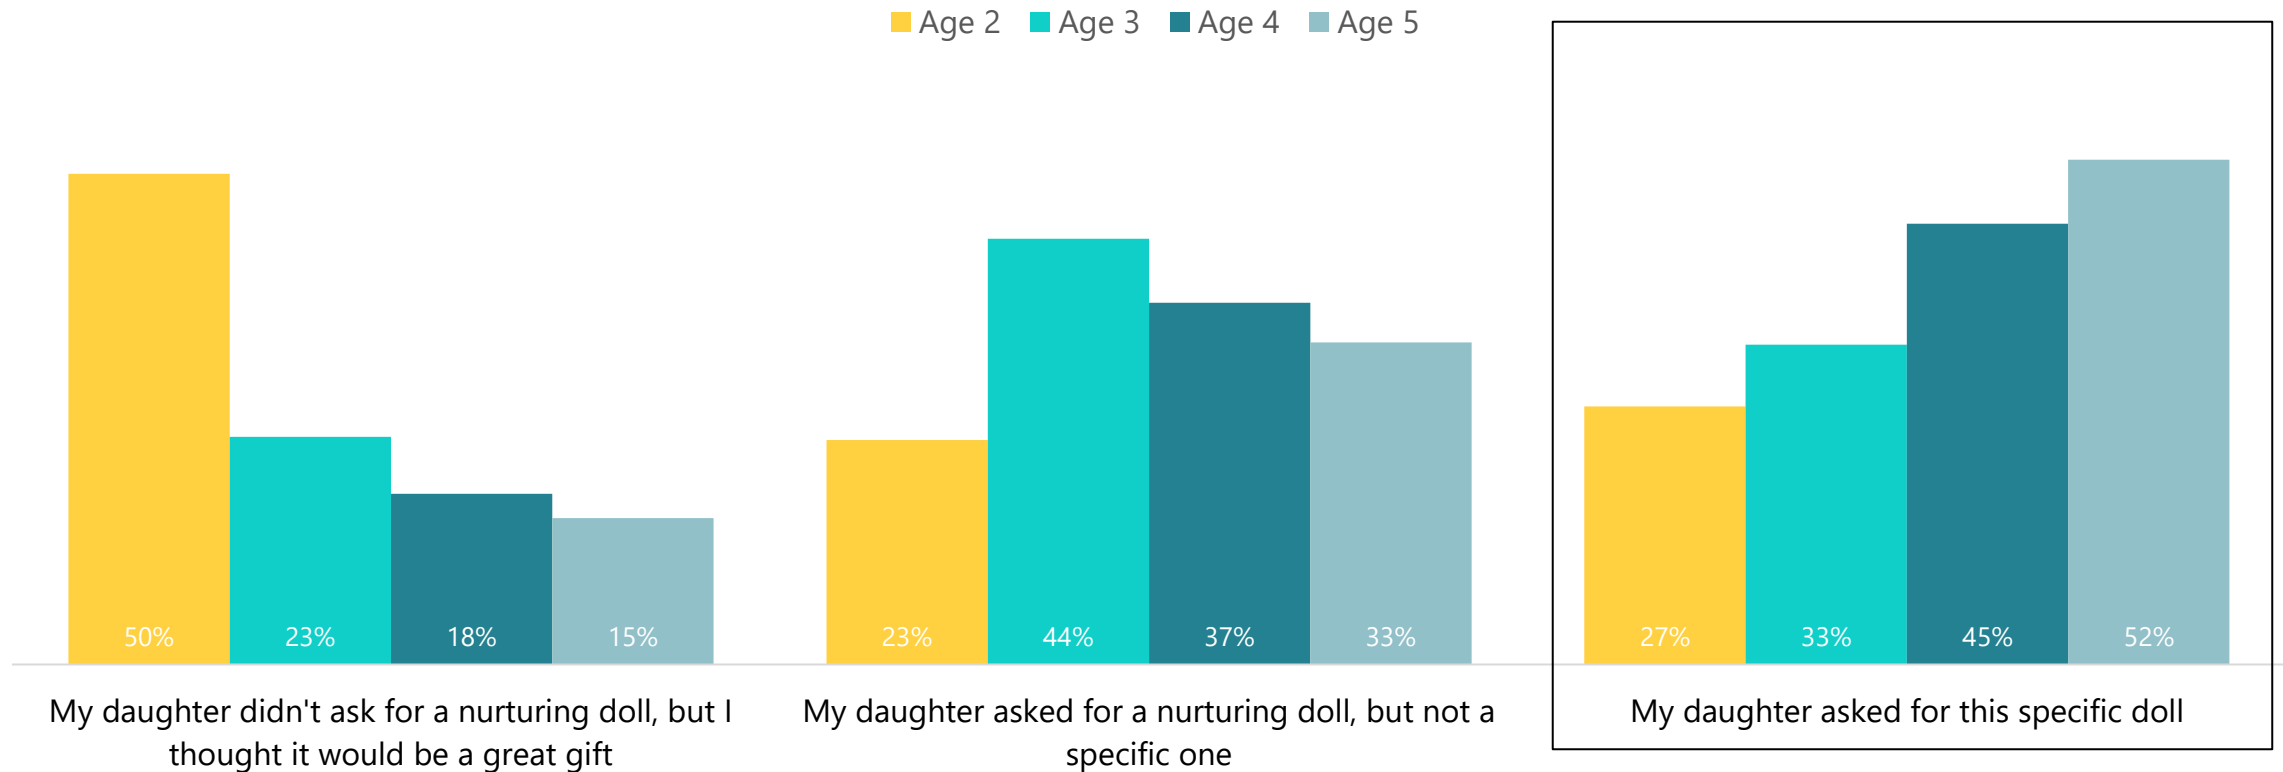

Consumer needs: Older children sway decisions

These older children also hold more pester power – having more influence on what's being bought than younger children

Input into most recent doll

By age

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – A10. And how much say did your daughter have in this purchase?

Consumer needs: Key Drivers Analysis explained

But to understand what's most important when purchasing a nurturing doll, we couldn't only rely on what shoppers say is important – instead, we used KDA

What we say is important

What is really important

STATED drivers

- Often reflective of top-of-mind 'buzz'
- A good indicator of aspirations when it comes to purchases
- But a post-rationalised response, that doesn't reflect the real, in-the-moment decision shoppers made
- Often shaped by innate biases that mean we under or over claim the importance of something

REVEALED drivers (Key Drivers Analysis)

- What drives satisfaction with a nurturing doll purchase
- The higher a driver, the more influence it has on overall satisfaction
- Is unconsciously important in decision making

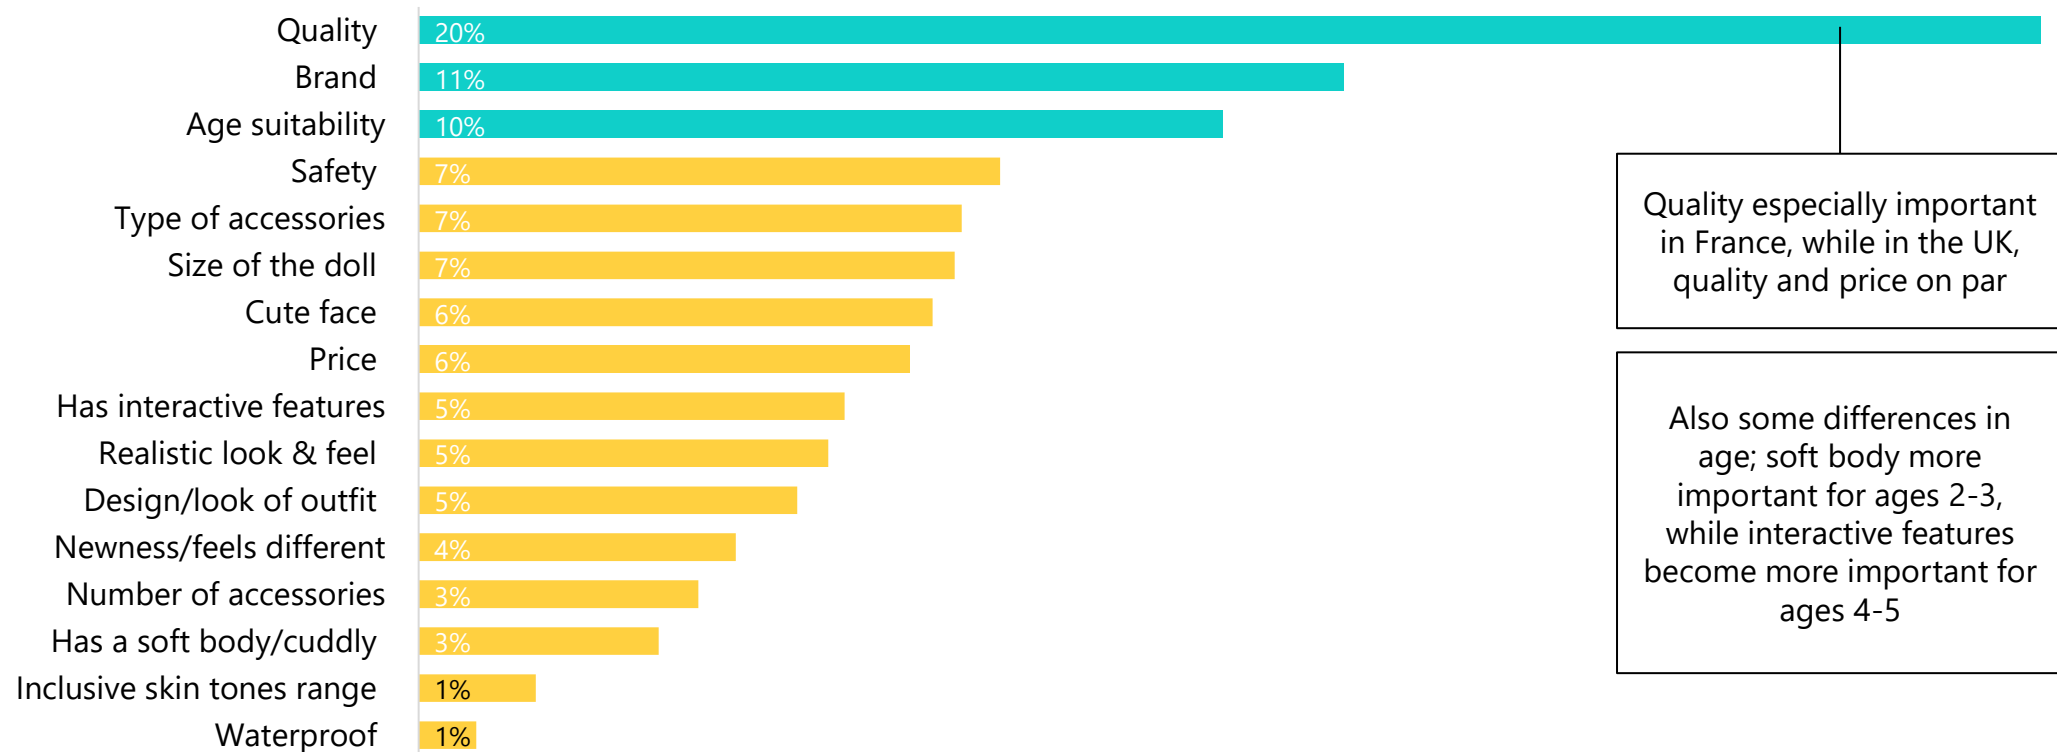

Consumer needs: Quality the top driver

This method reveals that quality is the key satisfaction driver – something that brand name helps reinforce

Revealed importance (Key Drivers Analysis)

Total

Source:

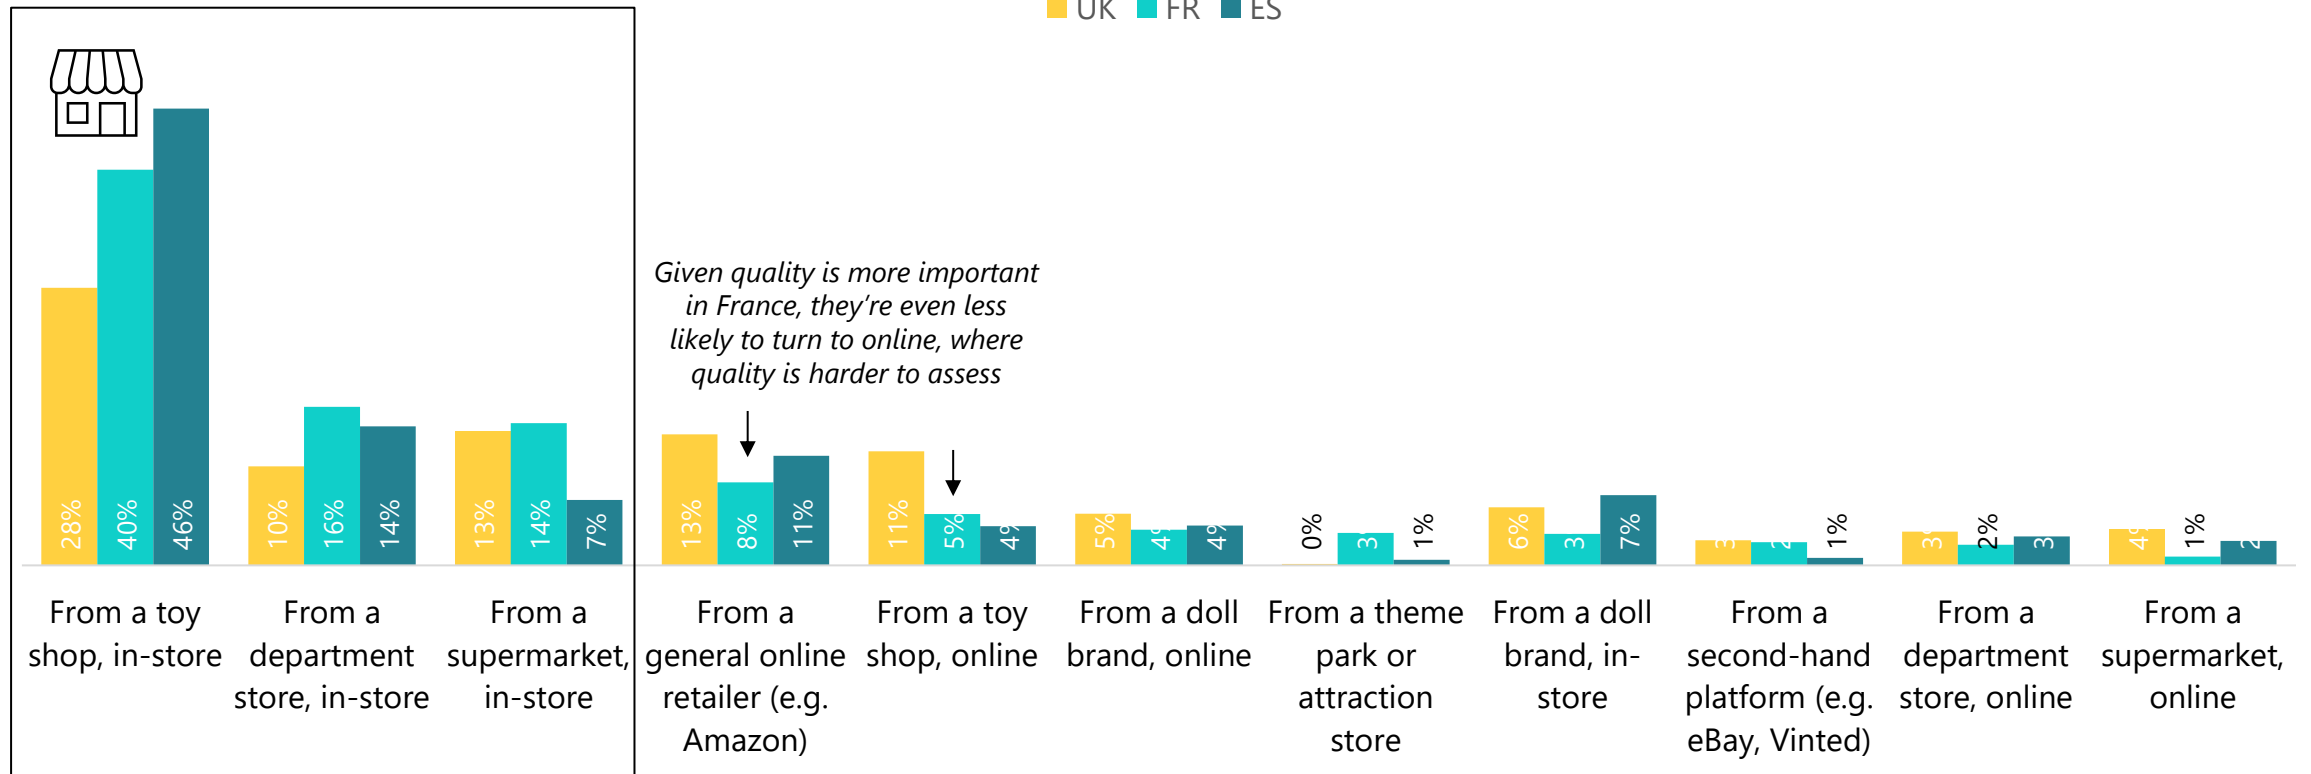

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – Key Drivers Analysis - A15. Thinking about the doll you bought, how satisfied are you with your purchase? A16. Thinking about the doll you bought, how would you rate it on each of the below?

Consumer needs: Quality assessed in-person

Given most purchases happen in-store, it's crucial that this quality aspect comes through – in person, quality can be more heavily scrutinised

Where the most recent doll bought from

By market

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – A13. Where did you buy this doll?

The winning range

Darlings Feature holds the most appeal (with some market nuances) – to secure spend, ensure interactive elements are crystal clear

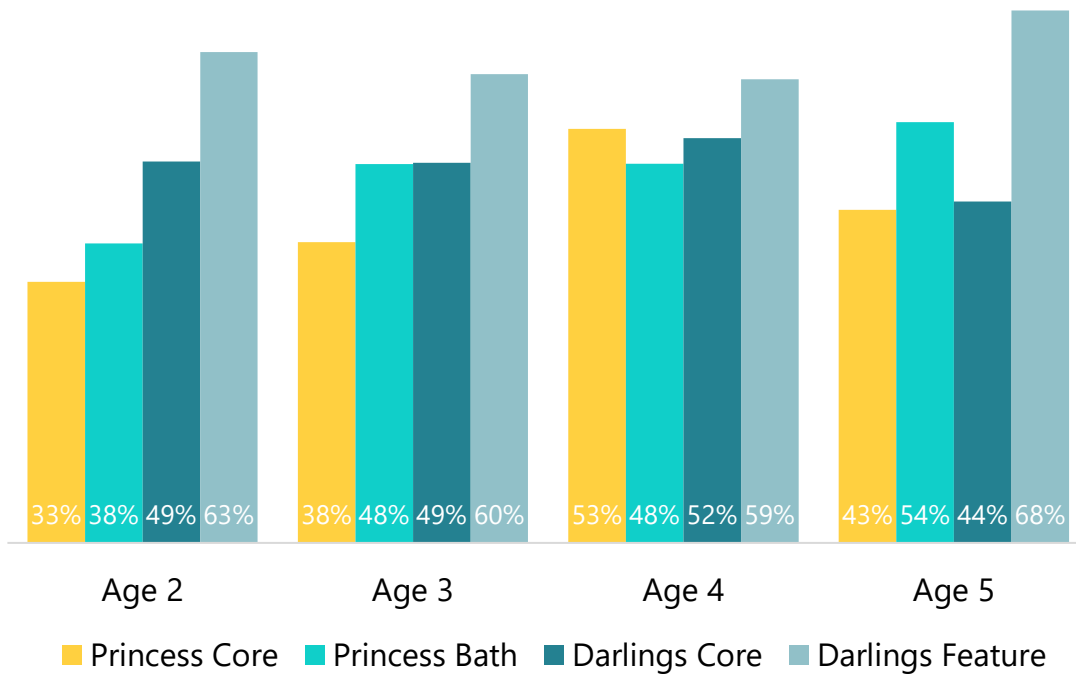

The winning range: Darlings Feature comes top

When it comes to overall appeal, Darlings Feature is the clear front-runner - across all markets and age groups

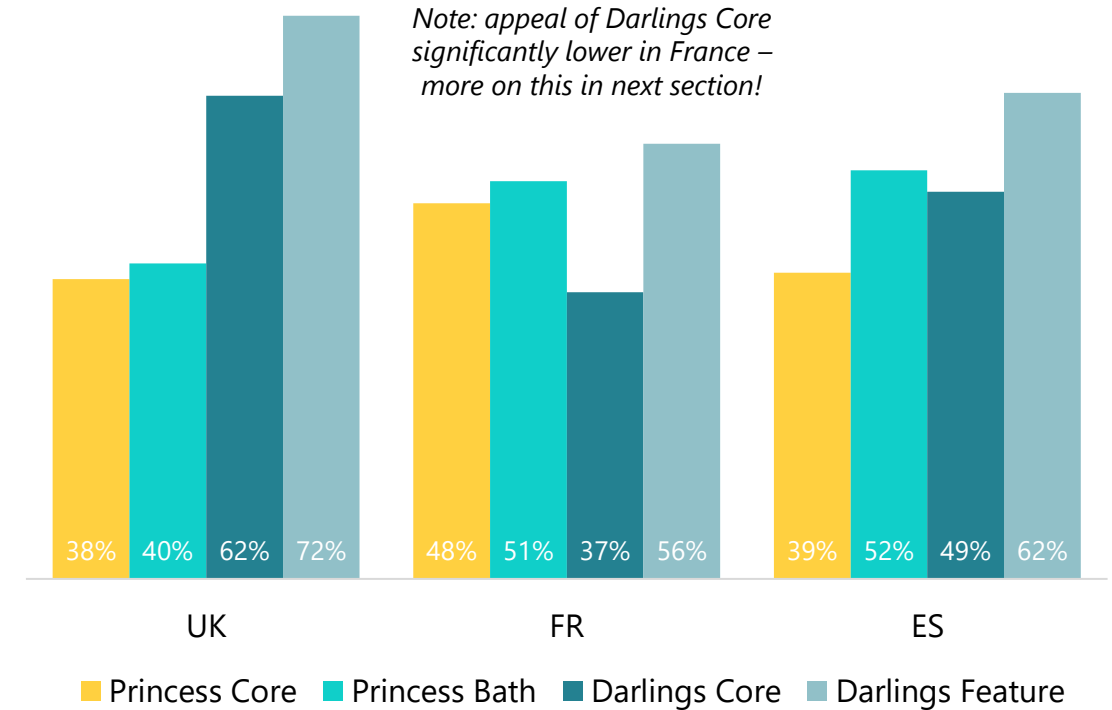

Prompted appeal post image/video

By age, NET (top 3 minus bottom 3 of a 10-point scale)

Prompted appeal post image/video

By market, NET (top 3 minus bottom 3 of a 10-point scale)

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B6. Firstly, how appealing would you say this range of nurturing dolls is for your daughter aged [pipe: S4C]?

The winning range: Dominating on all descriptors

Standing out for its realistic appearance and accessories that promote play

'Excellent' ratings post video - Darlings Feature vs other Disney dolls

Total vs average

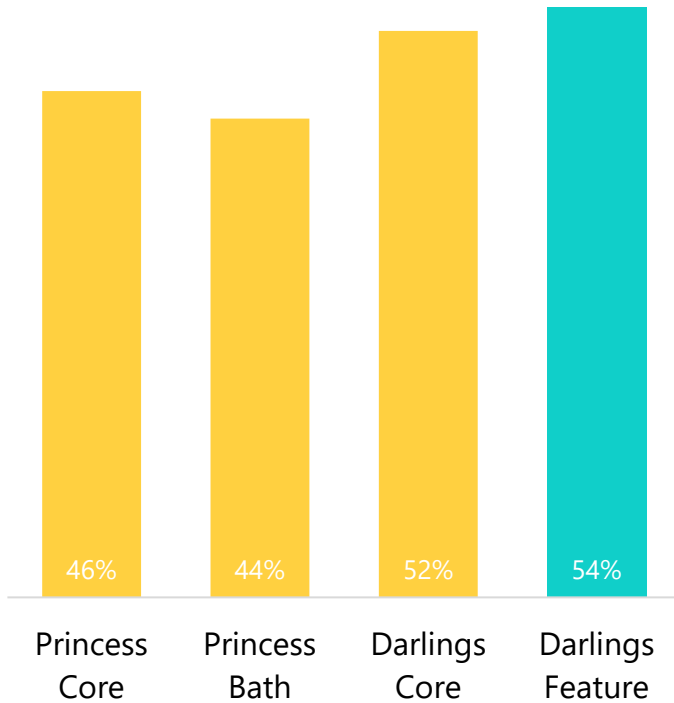

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B9. How would you rate this range on each of the below? Please base answers on your perceptions or expectations of the doll from the image shown – it's your gut feel we're interested in! B7. You scored this range of nurturing dolls [SCORE FROM B6]. Please tell us why? The more detail the better – we'd love to know what you like about the range, and what you don't like.

The winning range: Charming expression

While the endearing facial expression and life-like features feed the core purpose of nurturing dolls; empathy and care

Appeal of eyes/facial expression post image/video
Total

Lifelike facial expression helps children's imagination, and endearing look creates a sense of empathy

“Facial features, clothing and accessories feels lifelike and engaging for imaginative play

“It is a cute doll. It looks attractive too. The eyes are not too big, it's moderate and enchanting

Lifelike features, such as laughing and eye movements make the doll feel like a real baby, and encourage empathy

“I love the fact it looks realistic, makes a sound, it looks practical which goes a long way to teach my child nurturing and care giving

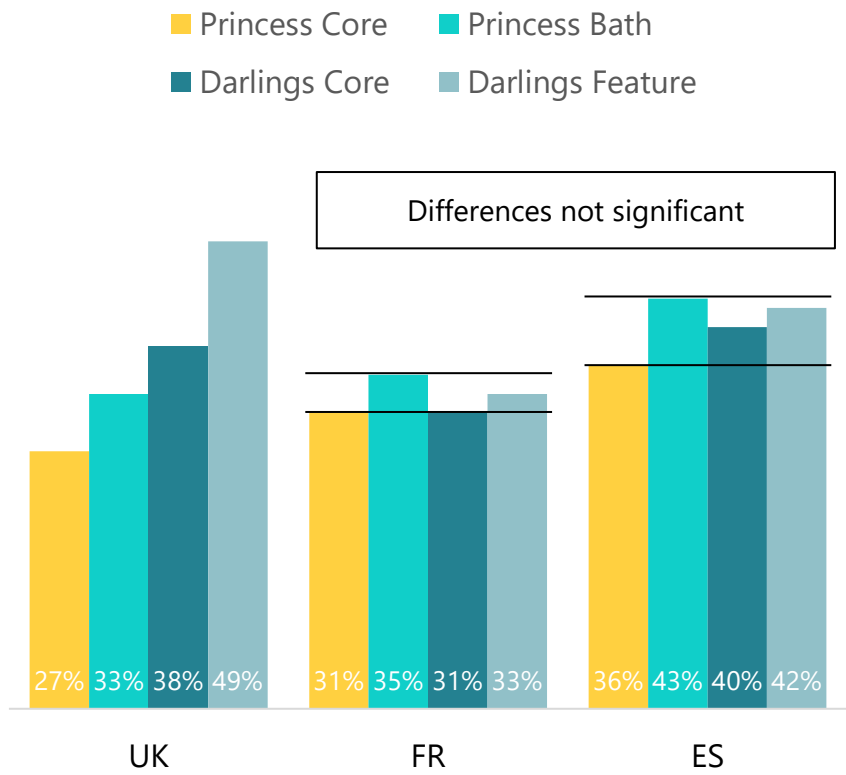

Interactive elements such as the ability to feed and rock the doll keeps children engaged and wanting to play

“The doll is so cute and just adorable. She has beautiful accessories and would give my daughter a sense of responsibility. She will be so curious and excited

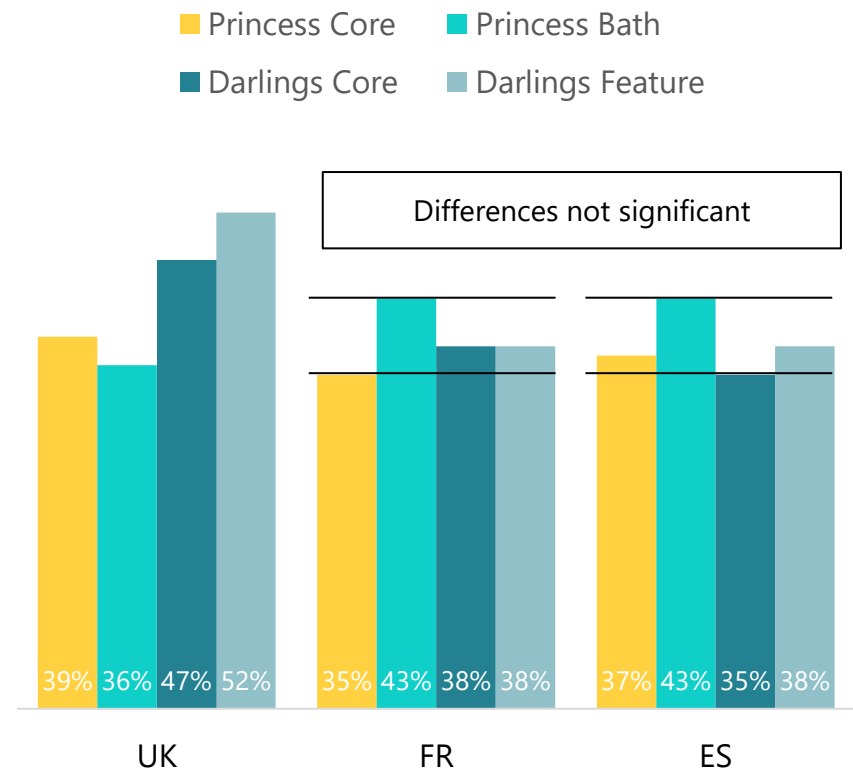

The winning range: Highly perceived in the UK

Quality and brand is a particularly strong point in the UK, though worth noting that is this less pronounced in other markets

'Excellent' quality rating post image/video
Total

'Excellent' brand rating post image/video
Total

While quality is more important to consumers in France, and to some extent Spain, brand less of a driver in these markets

So can't rely on the Disney name alone to portray quality – needs to be highlighted through other levers beyond this

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B9. How would you rate this range on each of the below? Please base answers on your perceptions or expectations of the doll from the image shown – it's your gut feel we're interested in! B7. You scored this range of nurturing dolls [SCORE FROM B6]. Please tell us why? The more detail the better – we'd love to know what you like about the range, and what you don't like.

The winning range: A watch-out

However, if interactive elements aren't seen by consumers straight away, Darlings Feature won't reach its full potential

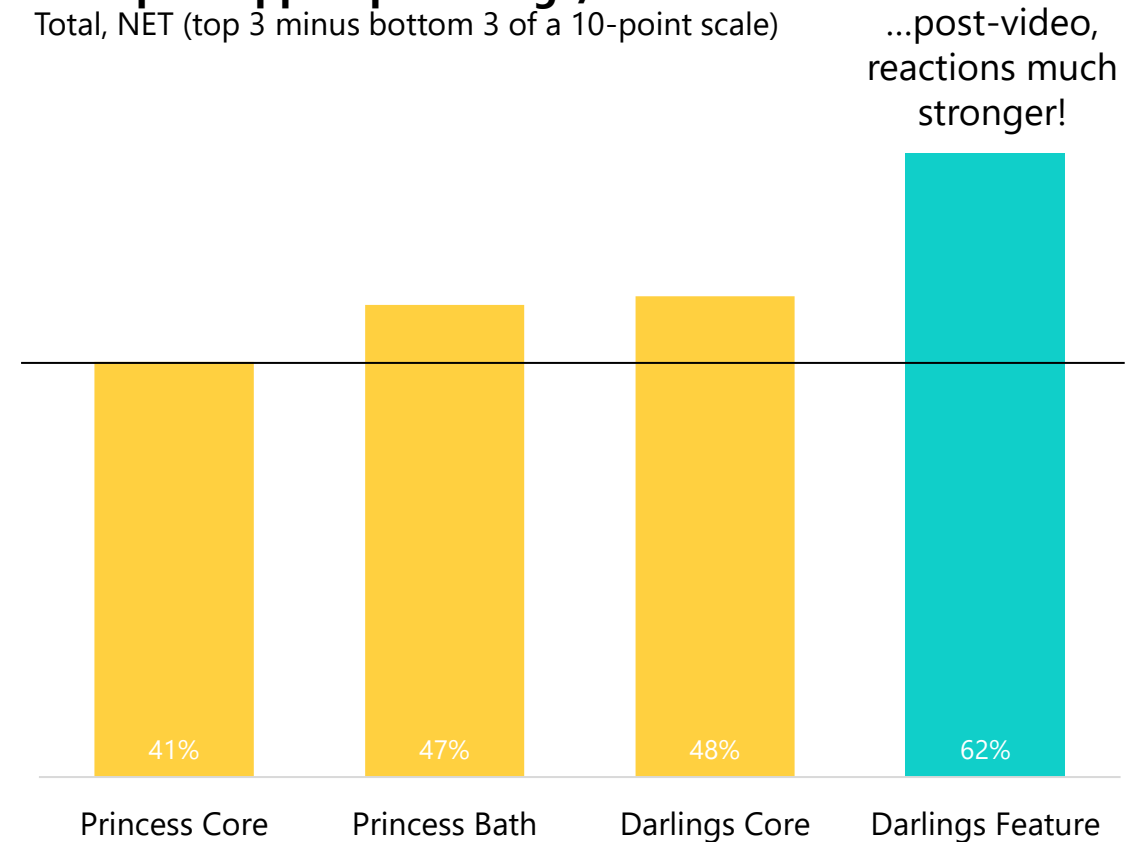

Gut reaction appeal pre image/video

Total, NET (top 3 minus bottom 3 of a 10-point scale)

Prompted appeal post image/video

Total, NET (top 3 minus bottom 3 of a 10-point scale)

Source:

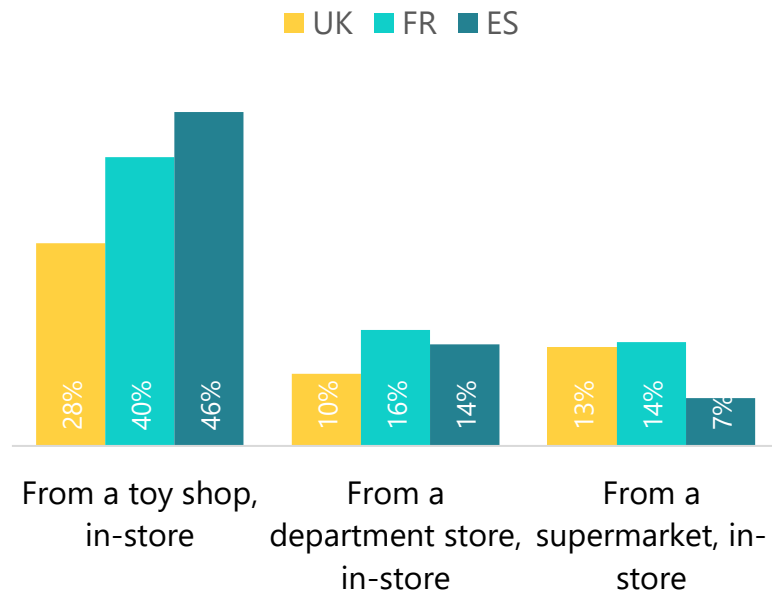

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B1. If the price was right for you, how likely would you be to buy a doll from this Disney nurturing/baby doll range for your daughter aged [pipe: S4C]? B6. Firstly, how appealing would you say this range of nurturing dolls is for your daughter aged [pipe: S4C]?

The winning range: Clear packaging needed

Make the interactive elements very clear on packaging to ensure they're not missed – particularly crucial, given most purchases happen in-store

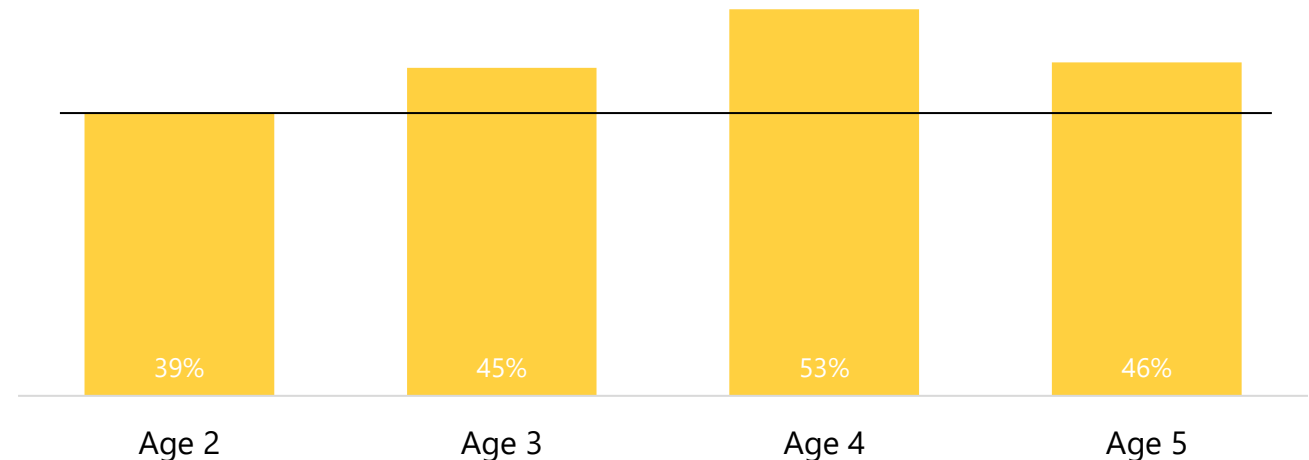

With most purchases in-person, packaging needs to clearly display interactivity

Top 3 most recent purchase destinations
By market

Particularly for older children, aged 4-5 who want features to encourage active play

'My daughter uses her nurturing dolls mainly for active play'
By age, strongly agree

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – A13. Where did you buy this doll? A8. Below are some things parents have said about nurturing/baby dolls, please tell us how much you agree with each statement

KOKORO

Price optimisations

Cost a barrier for Darlings Feature – reprioritise features to reduce price and create distinction with Core

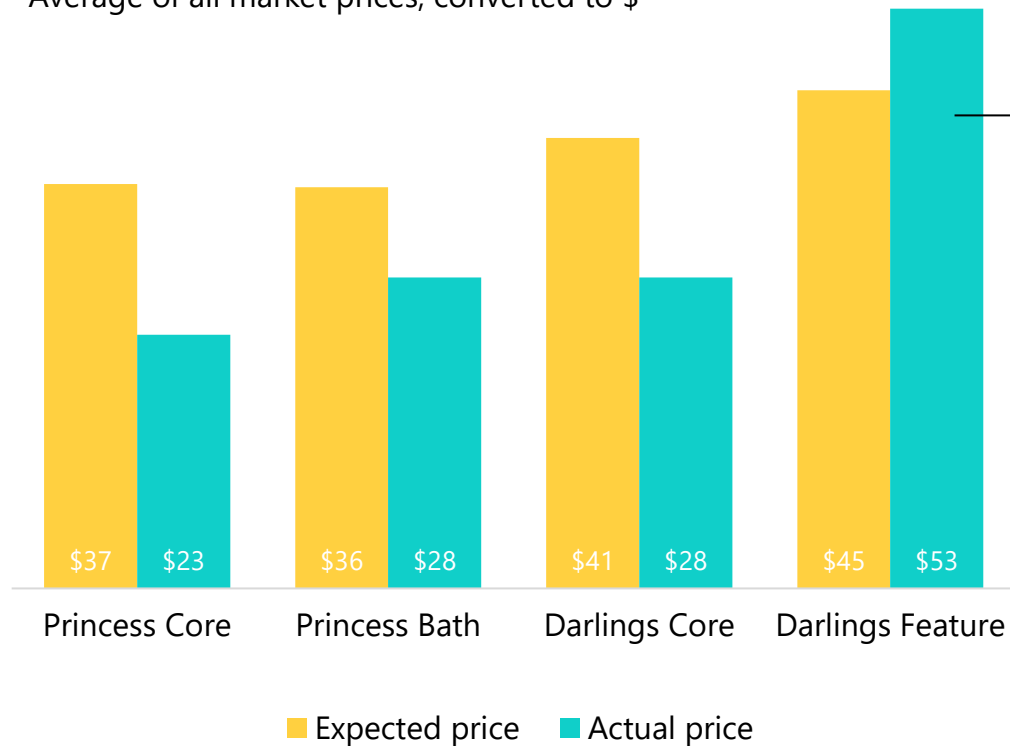

Price optimisations: Higher price than expected

Although the most popular range on face value, Darlings Feature struggles to convert on price, as higher than expected

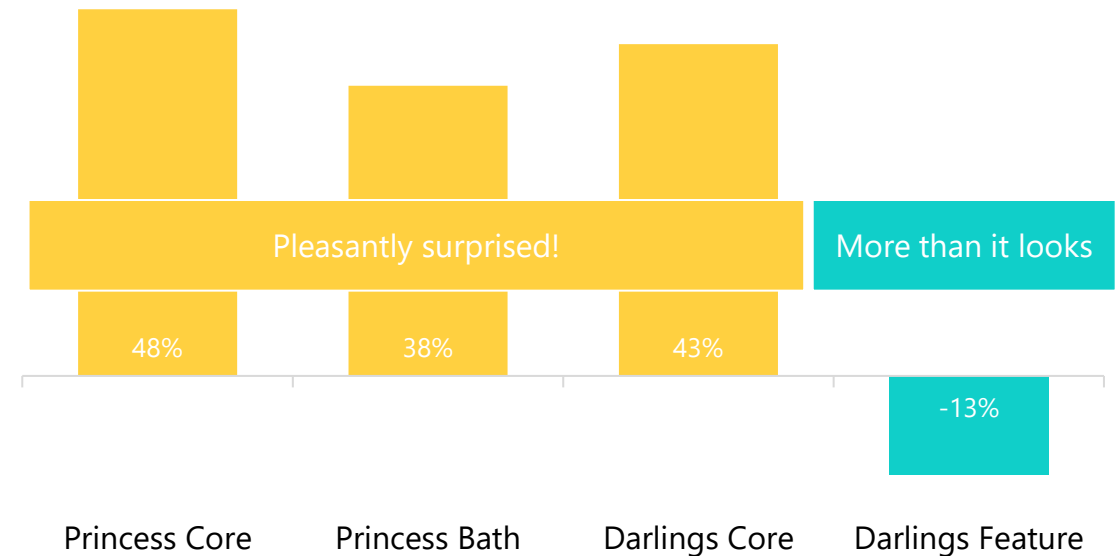

Expected price vs actual price, post image/video

Average of all market prices, converted to $

Likelihood to buy once price revealed

Total, NET (top 2 minus bottom 2 of a 5-point scale)

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B12. What do you think the price tag of this product is? B13. The cost of each doll in this range is [x]. How does this impact your decision?

KOKORO

Price optimisations: Less of an issue in the UK

Less so in the UK, where their love of the range justifies spend – whereas in France and Spain, quality not quite enough to justify price

Darlings Feature particularly loved in UK - so despite being more value-orientated than other markets, willing to accept Darling Features' higher price point for a better product

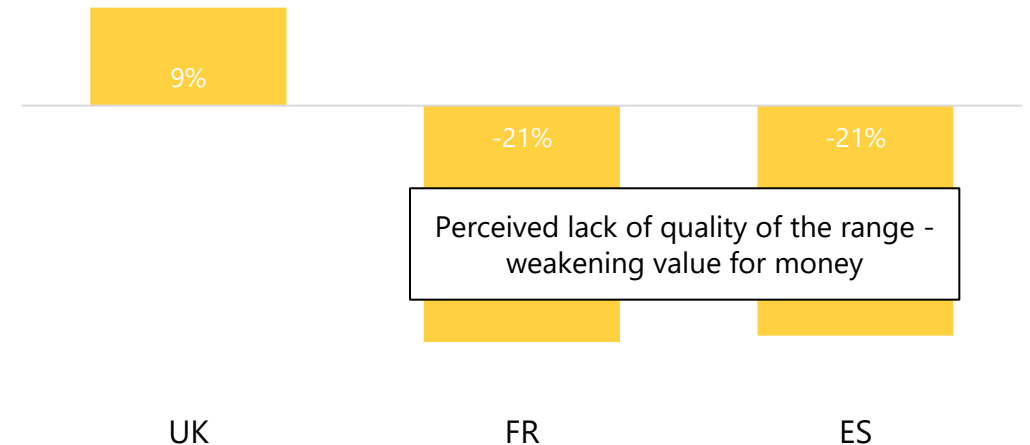

Expected price vs actual price, post video - Darlings Feature

By market

Likelihood to buy once price revealed - Darlings Feature

By market, NET (top 2 minus bottom 2 of a 5-point scale)

Source:

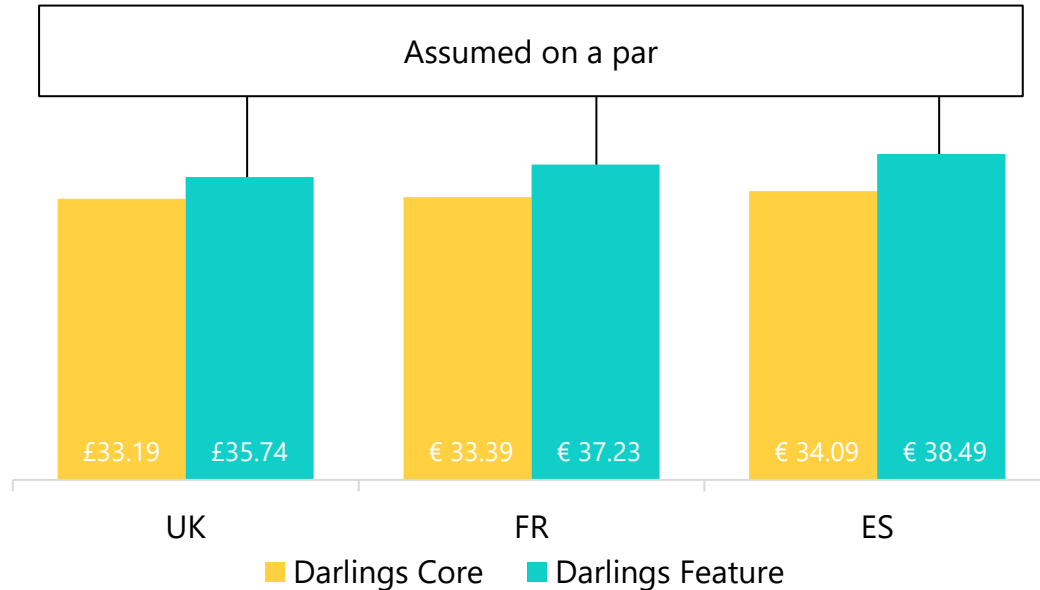

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B6. Firstly, how appealing would you say this range of nurturing dolls is for your daughter aged [pipe: S4C]? B12. What do you think the price tag of this product is? B13. The cost of each doll in this range is [x]. How does this impact your decision?

Price optimisations: Too similar to Darlings Core

Aggravated by the fact that Darlings Core is deemed to be very similar in price and look – making the jump in price point a tough pill to swallow

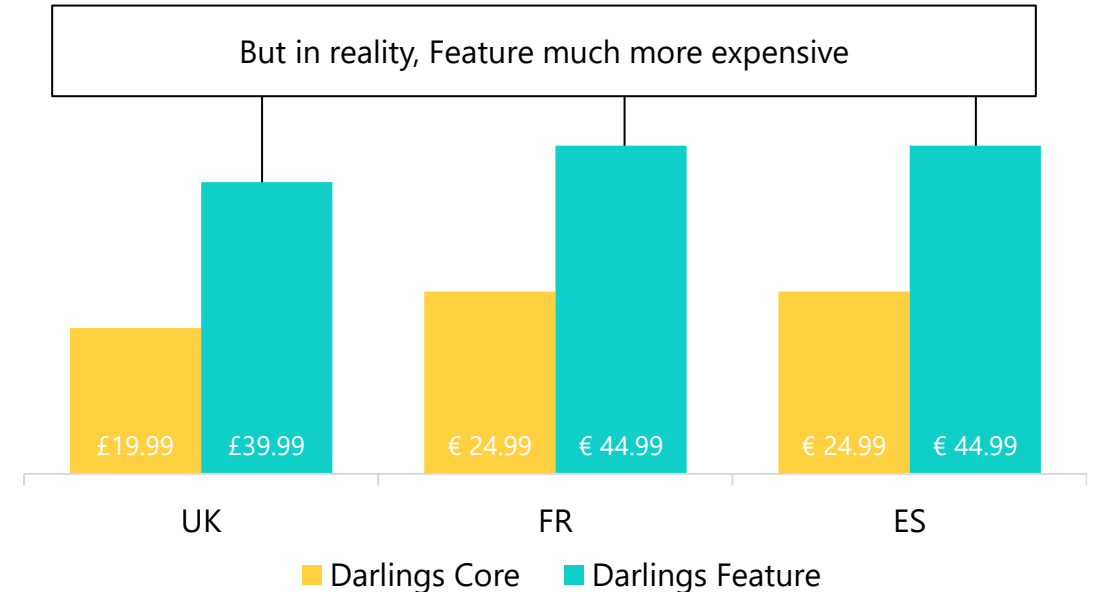

Expected price, post image/video

By market

Actual price

By market

Ranges tested in isolation – but a risk that when launched, prices will be seen side by side

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B12. What do you think the price tag of this product is?

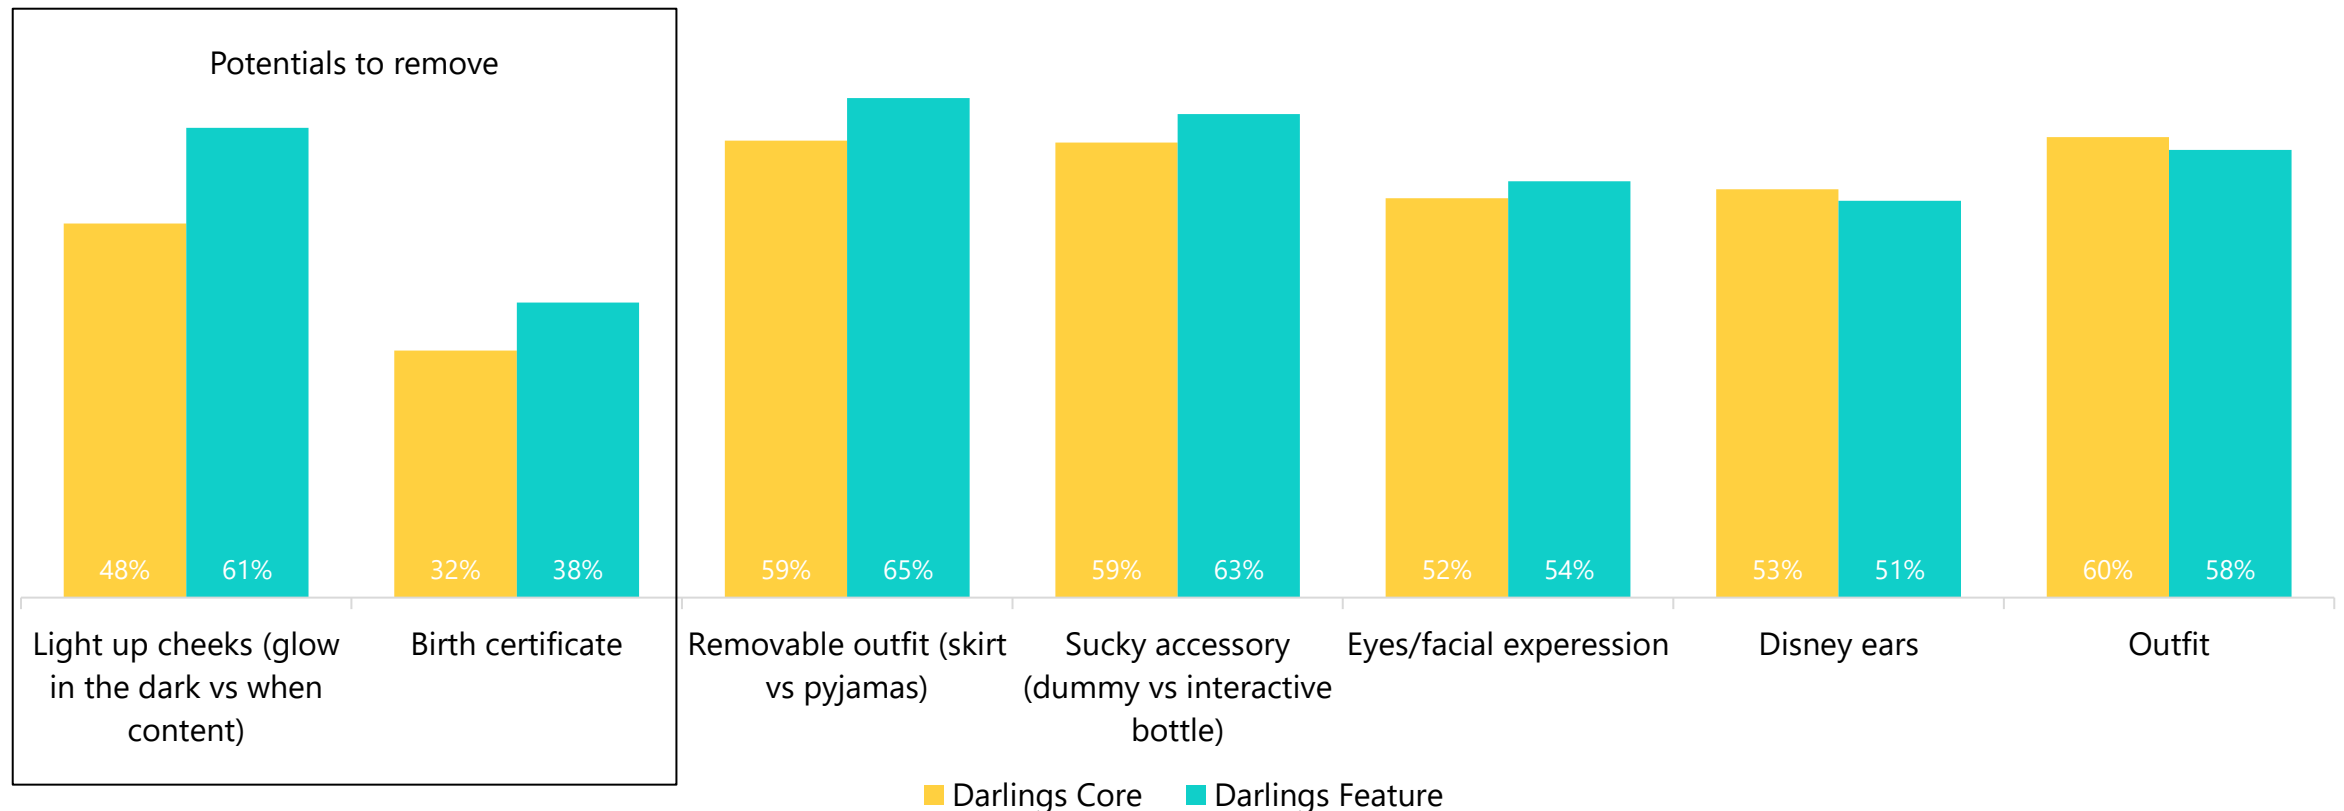

KOKORO

Price optimisations: Reassess Darlings Core features

To create distinction between the two and justify the price gap, first deprioritise some of the features or accessories in Darlings Core

Appeal of accessories/interactive feature, post image/video

Total, only showing features where there is a realistic comparative between Darlings Core and Darlings Feature

Source:

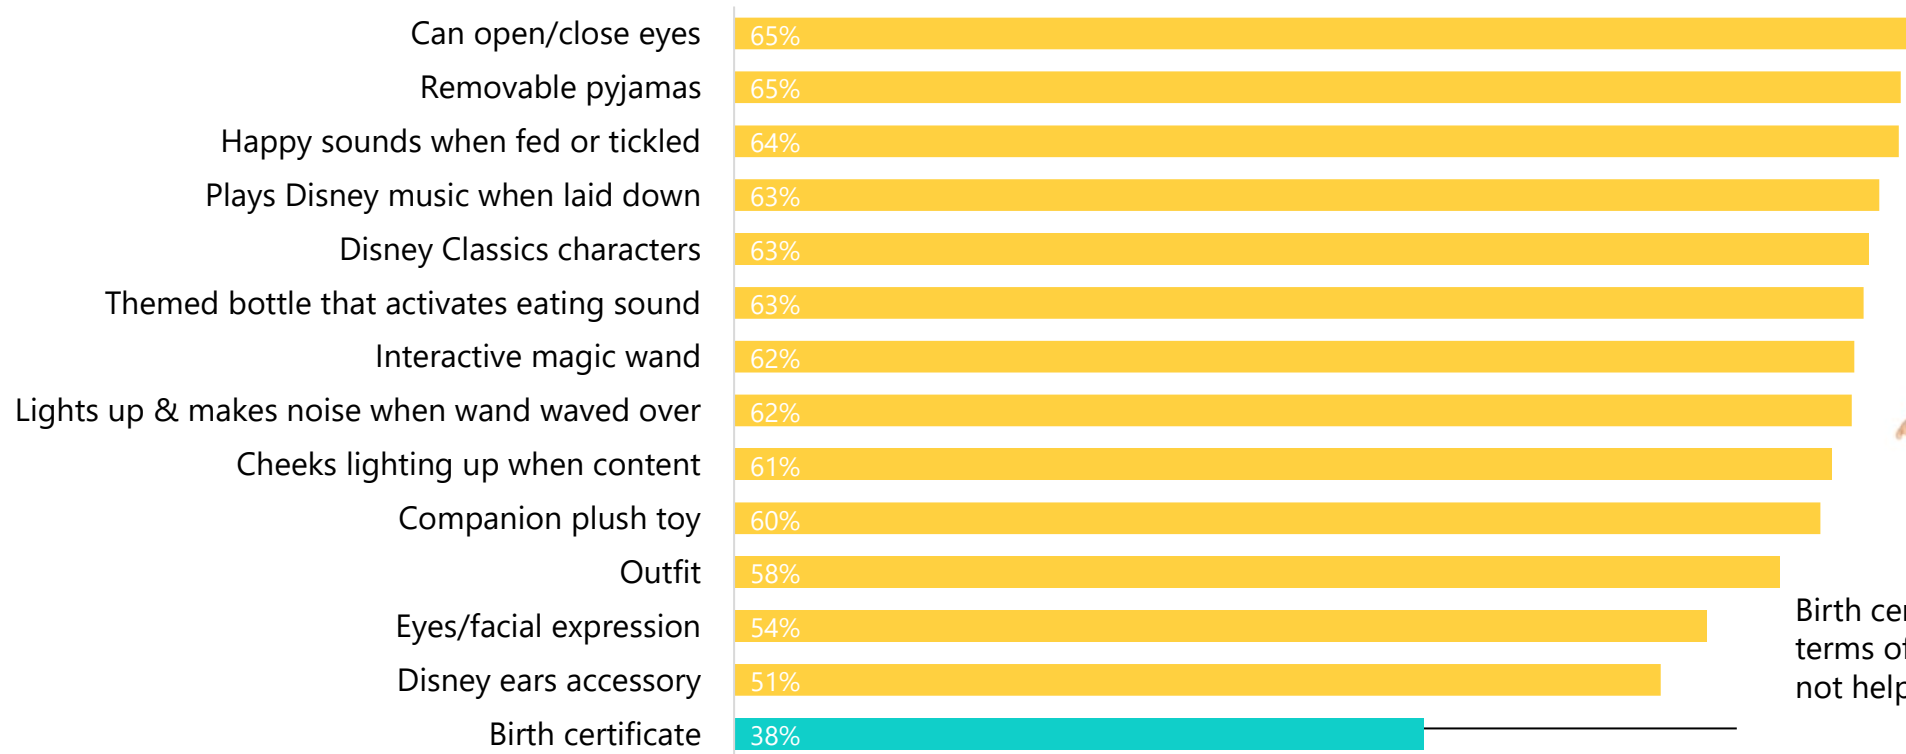

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B10. And how appealing would the below features be to your daughter?

Price optimisations: Reassess Darlings Feature interactivity

Second, consider whether there are any features or accessories that could be dropped to bring down the price of Darlings Feature

Appeal of accessories/interactive features, post video – Darlings Feature

Total, very appealing

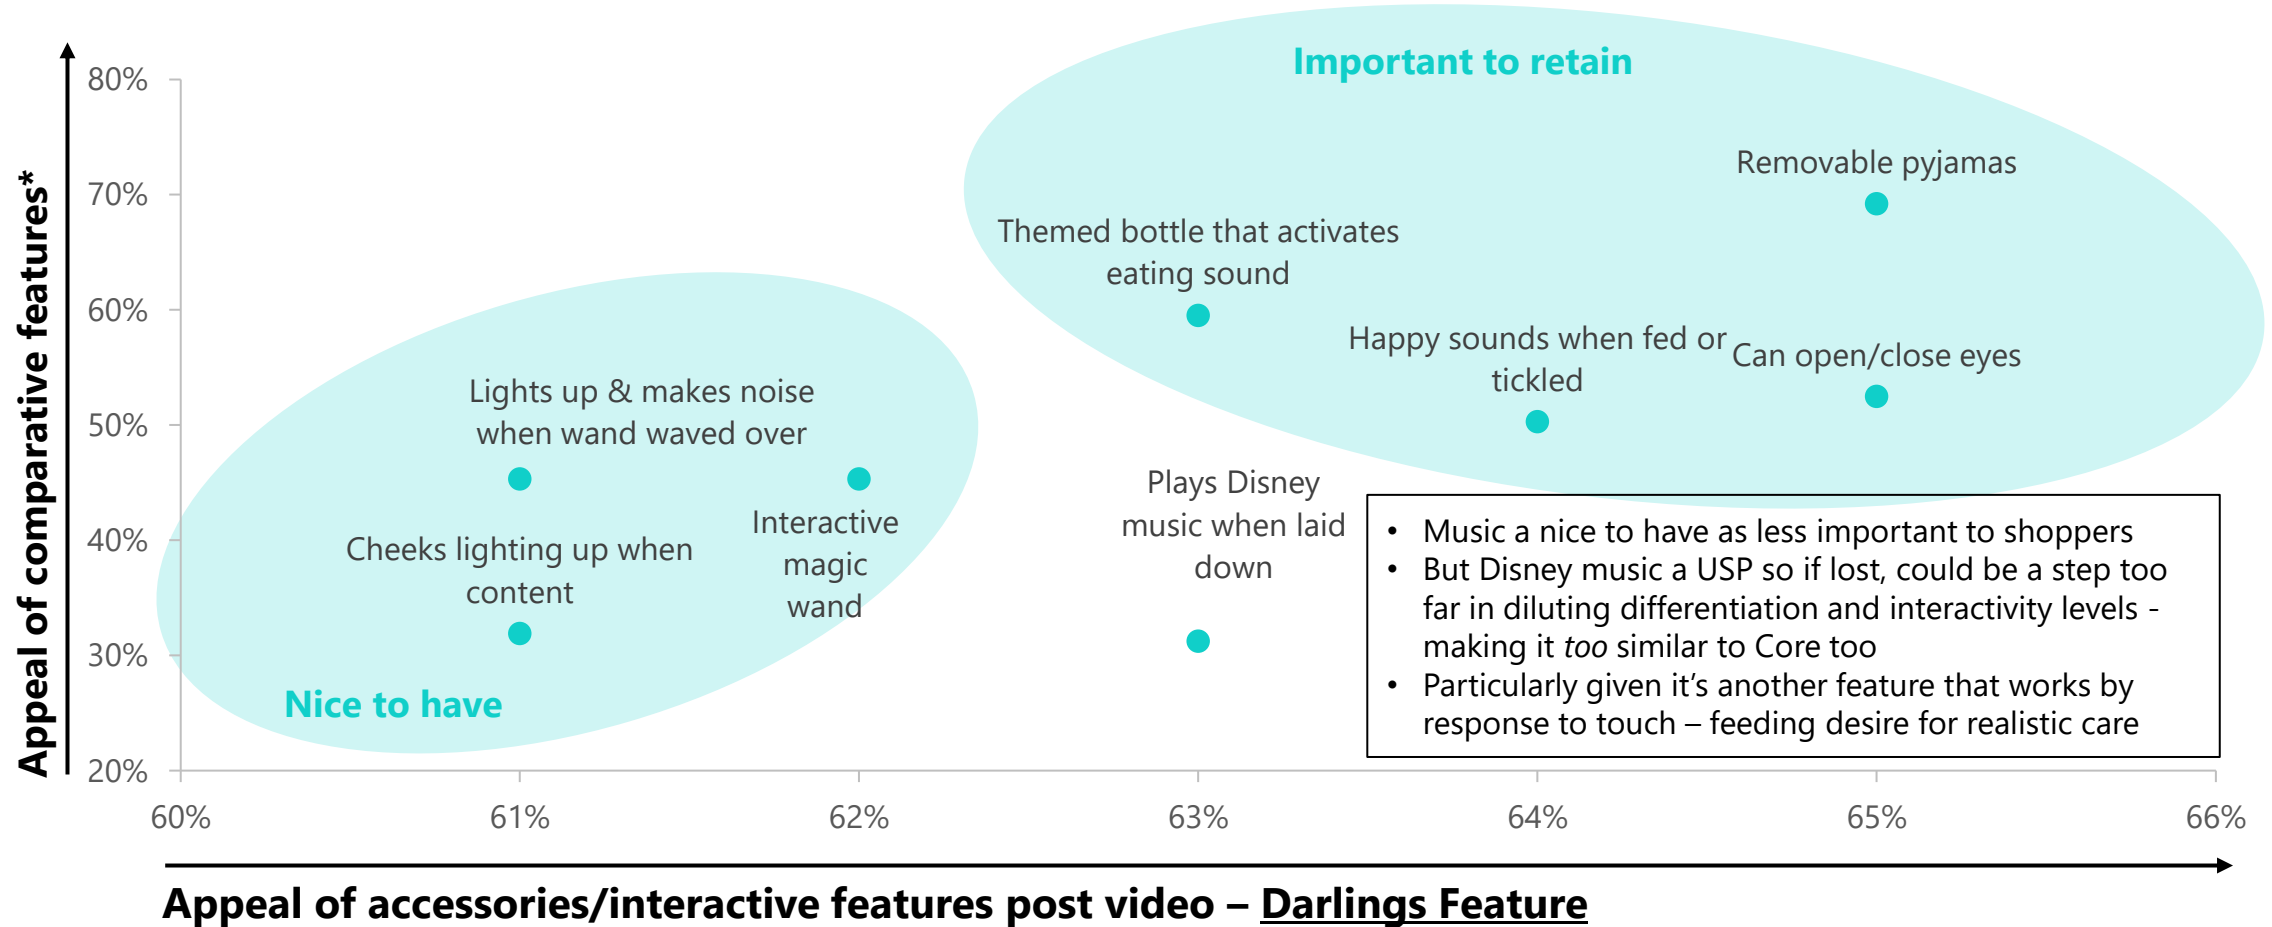

Birth certificate a clear on to drop in terms of consumer appeal, but might not help to bring the costs down

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B10. And how appealing would the below features be to your daughter?

Price optimisations: Reassess Darlings Feature interactivity

Features which showcase light or 'magical' elements are less essential than realistic sounds and movements - but are distinctly Disney

Source:

*Features that were asked about at A6 were more general than specific Disney features at B10, but we've taken similar features as a proxy to gauge importance level

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B10. And how appealing would the below features be to your daughter? A6. Please still think about nurturing/baby dolls, but now think about their features in particular... how appealing to your daughter are each of the following?

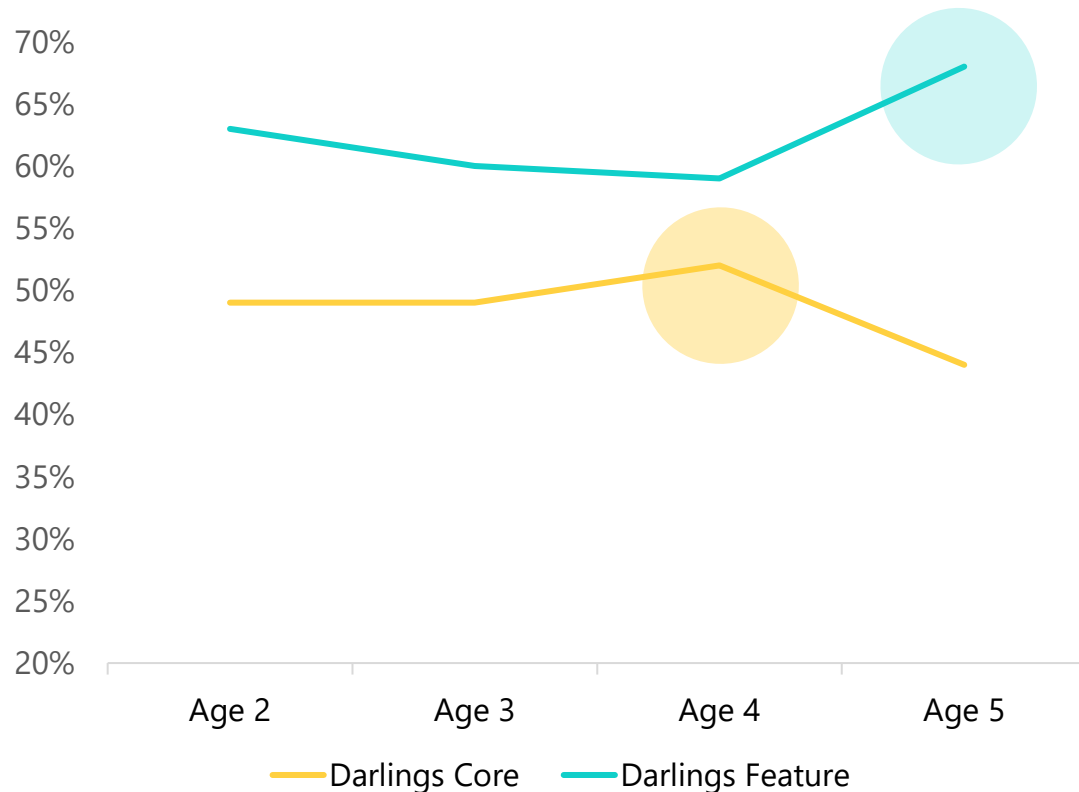

KOKORO

Price optimisations: Target by age

Third, target each range at different age groups – by positioning Darlings Feature at older girls, the higher price point will feel more acceptable

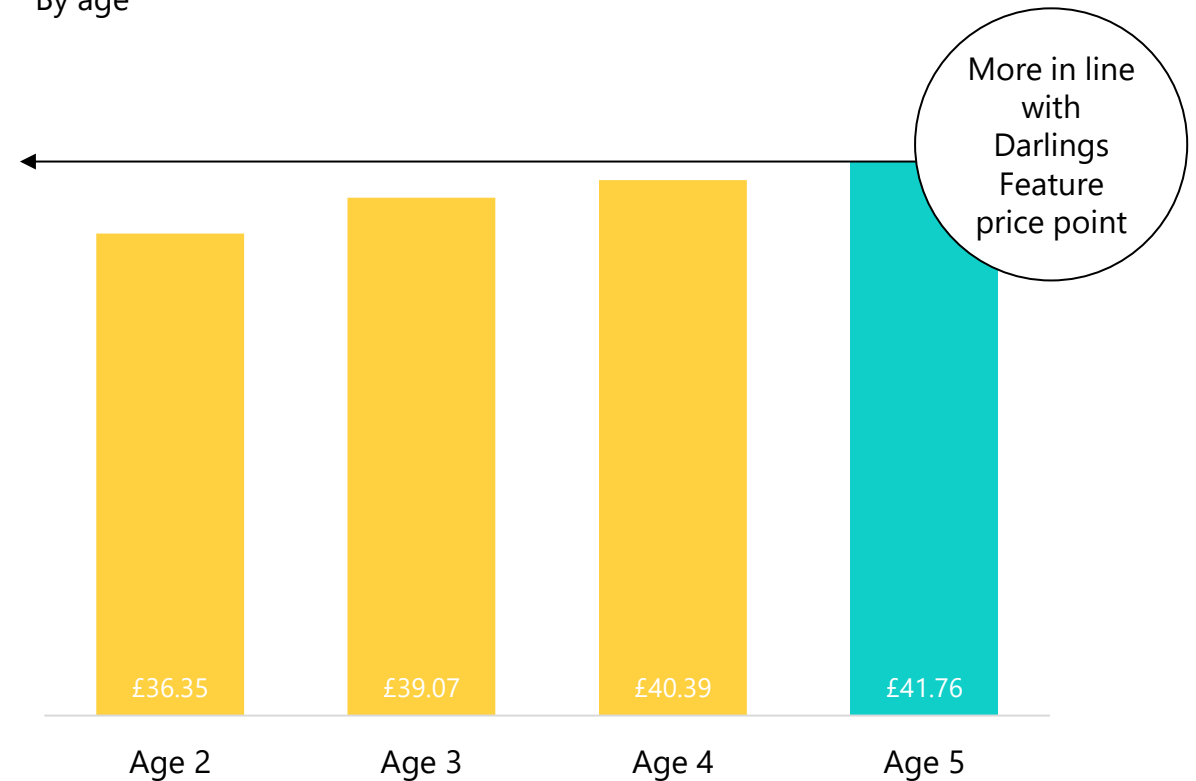

Prompted appeal, post image/video

By age, NET (top 3 minus bottom 3 of a 10-point scale)

Spend on recent nurturing doll purchase

By age

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B6. Firstly, how appealing would you say this range of nurturing dolls is for your daughter aged [pipe: S4C]? A14. Roughly how much did you spend on the doll?

Price optimisations: Target by age

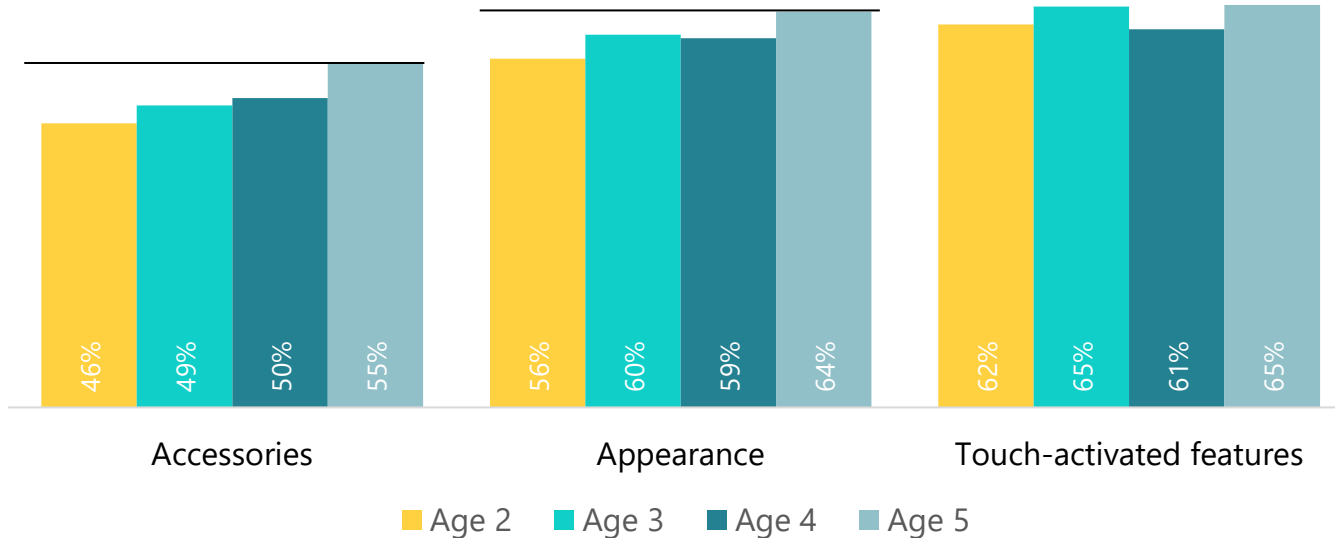

Plus, targeting Darlings Feature at a slightly older audience also brings the opportunity for add-on accessories – another way to grow spend

Importance of accessories/interactive feature type - Darlings Feature

By age, features grouped by type

“My daughter enjoys feeding dolls bottles, which this has. If the dresses didn't come off and couldn't be changed that would be a no for us though as my daughter enjoys dressing her dolls

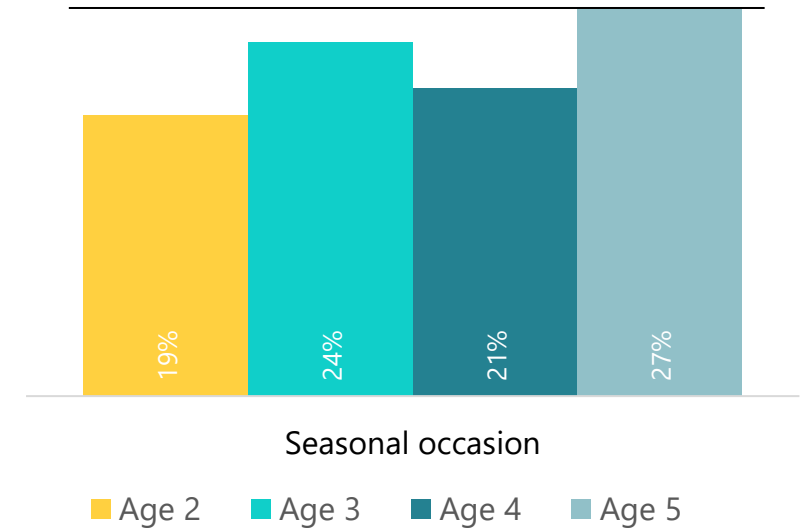

“The dolls are incredibly sweet and lifelike. My daughter will love to nurture them. If anything, we'd love to see more creative outfits

Reason for last purchase

By age

Extra outfits or accessories could tap into gifting occasions – part of a wider present, or ideas for grandparents/relatives

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B10. And how appealing would the below features be to your daughter? A12. What did you buy this doll for?

Darlings Core

A clear role in UK and Spain, but poor quality and outfit perceptions could hold it back in France

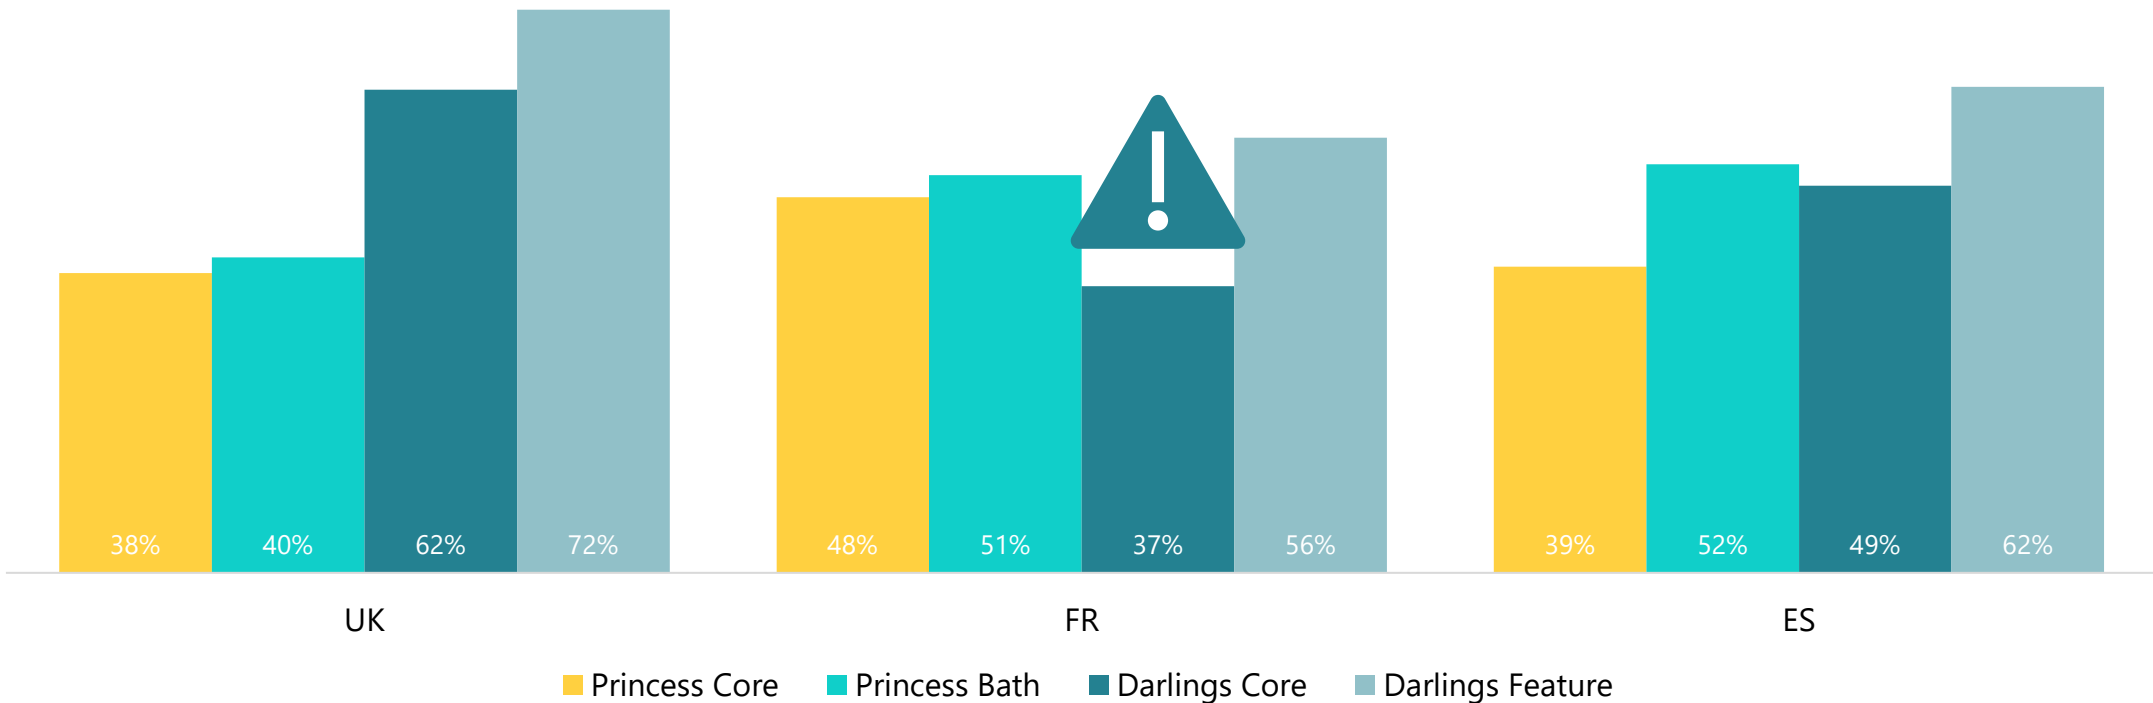

Darlings Core: Less appeal in France

Darlings Core has a clear role in UK and Spain, where it's one of the more popular ranges, but in France it falls behind

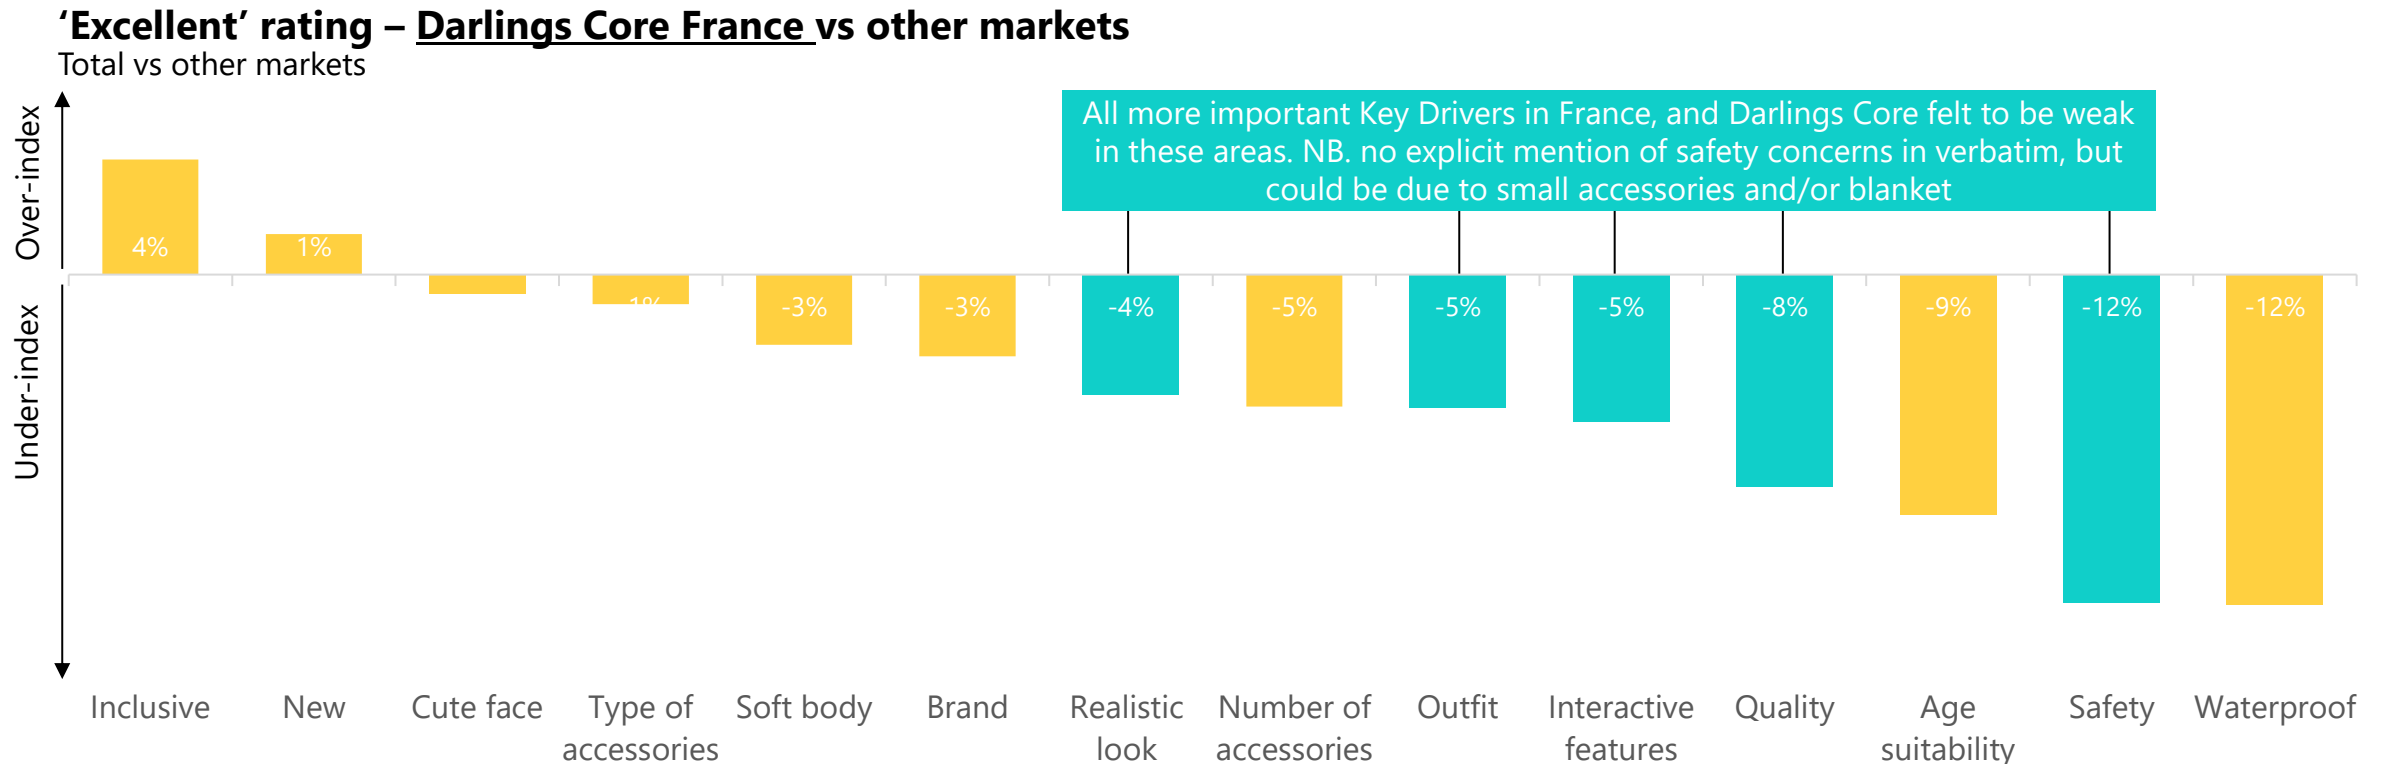

Prompted appeal, post image/video

By market, NET (top 3 minus bottom 3 of a 10-point scale)

Darlings Core: Doesn't hit Key Drivers

This is due to lower perceptions of quality and safety, as well as less appealing outfit or look – all of which are of even greater importance in France

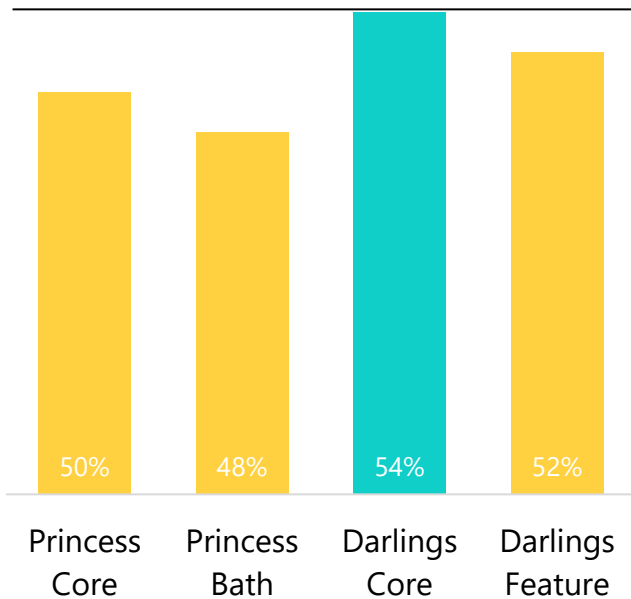

Darlings Core: Outfit signals low quality

The outfit in particular is something that the French market are less warm to, when you compare to others

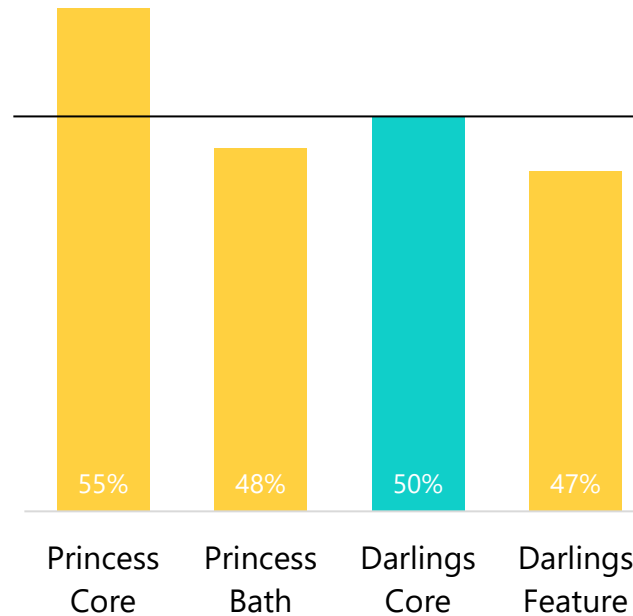

Appeal of individual features – Outfit, post image/video

Total 3 markets

Appeal of individual features – Outfit, post image/video

France

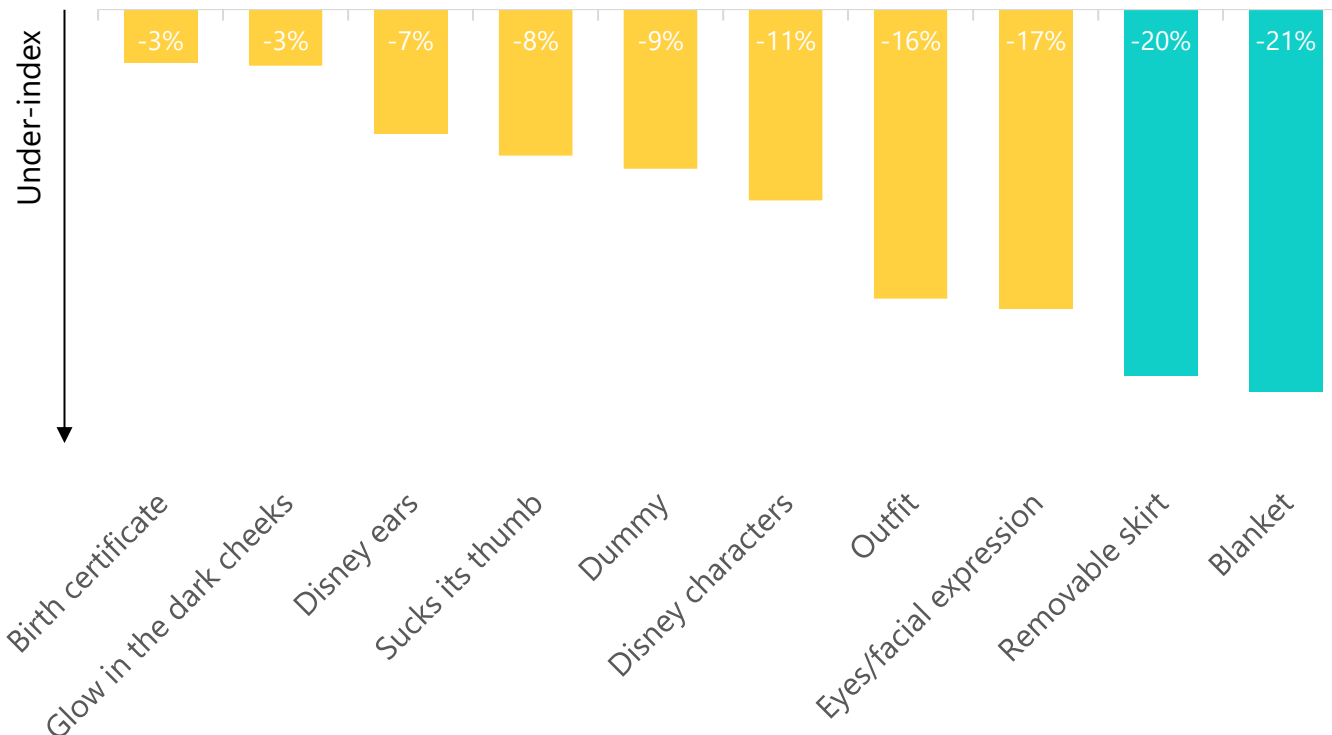

Darlings Core: Outfit signals low quality

Due to removable skirt and blanket, which have limited appeal in France and felt to contribute to low quality perceptions

Appeal of individual features – Darlings Core France vs other markets

Total vs other markets

Material of skirt felt to be of lower quality and more rigid – preventing cuddly feel

“The clothes look poor quality”

“I like the headband and the accessories. I don't like the little dress, it's too short for my taste”

“I don't really like the dress that these adorable dolls wear... I don't really like the colours”

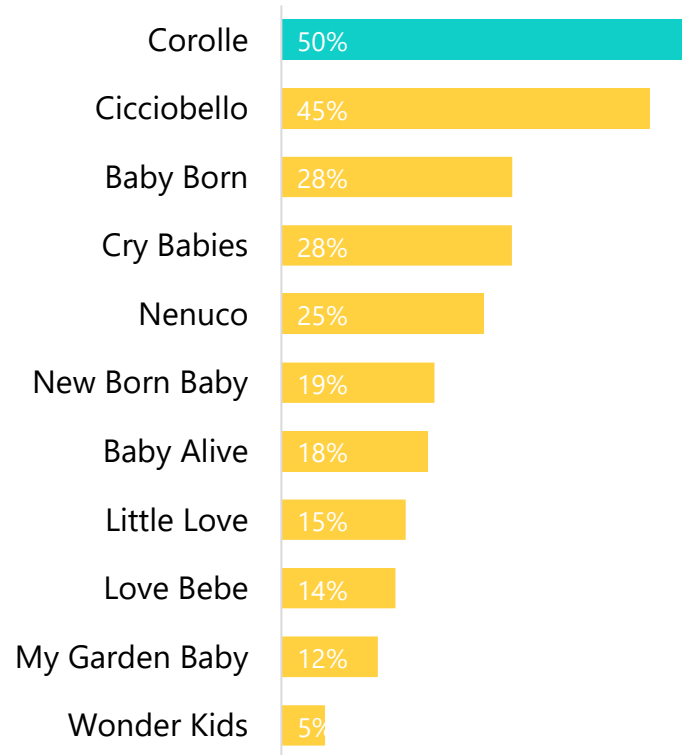

“I don't like the visual shape of the dolls or their clothes”

Darlings Core: Corolle tough competition

Given the tough competition of Corolle, which is market leader for both quality and outfit, it will be hard for Darlings Core to compete here

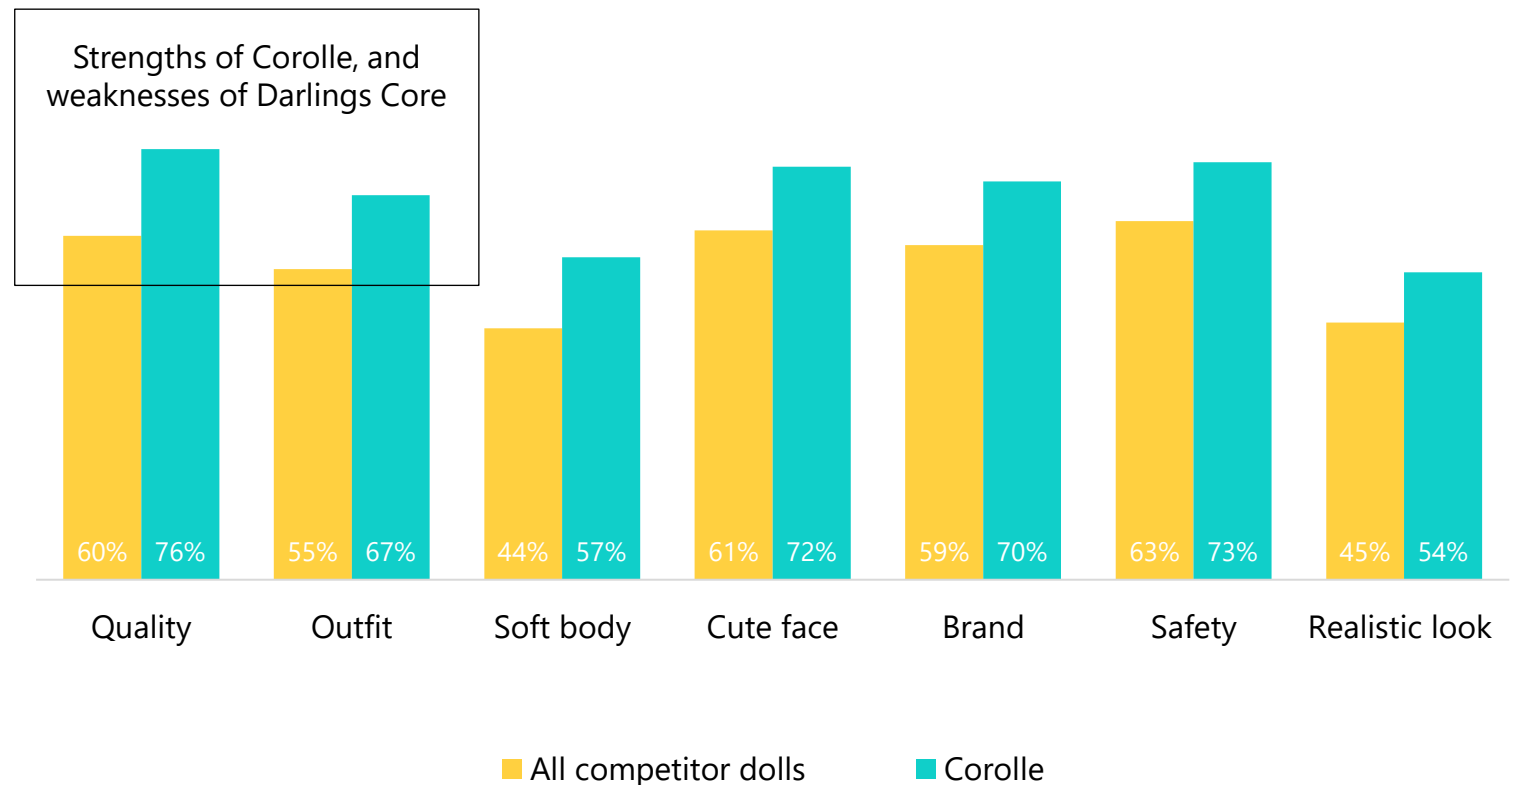

Nurturing dolls bought

France, top competitors

Satisfaction with last purchase

France

Role of Princess

Less mass appeal for Princess, but Core could tempt on price, while Bath delivers something different

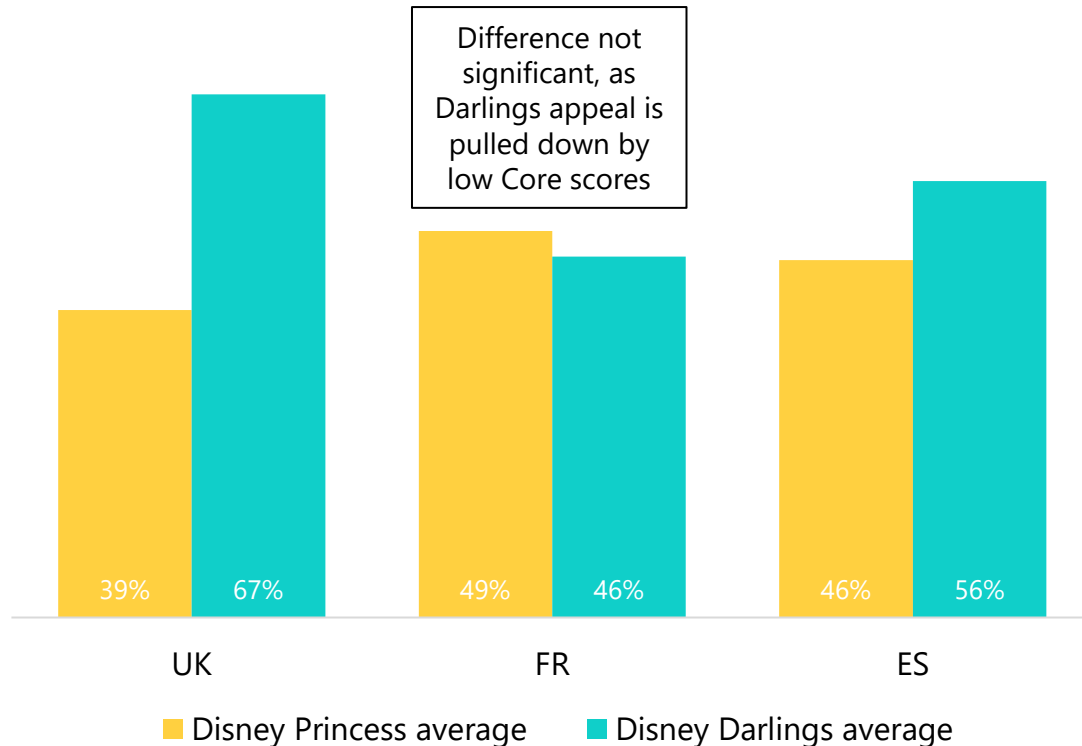

Role of Princess: Underperforms

As we've seen, compared to Disney Darlings, Disney Princess underperforms – France is the only exception, where the two are more closely aligned

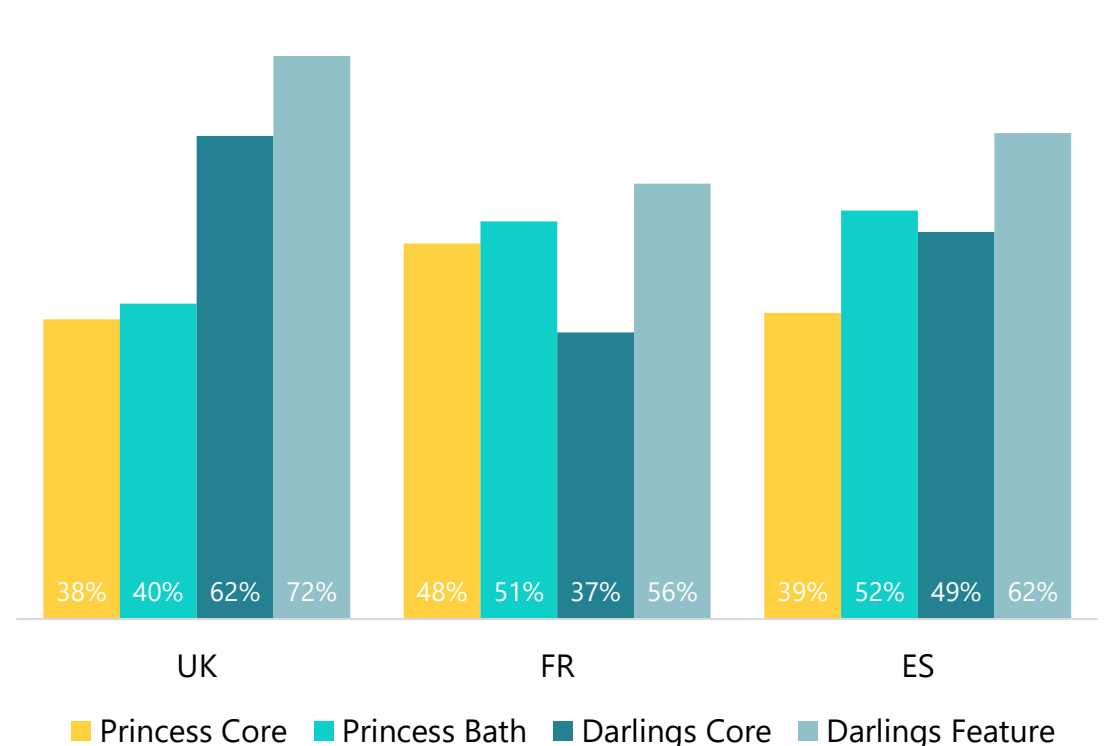

Prompted appeal, post image/video

By market, NET (top 3 minus bottom 3 of a 10-point scale)

Prompted appeal, post image/video

By market, NET (top 3 minus bottom 3 of a 10-point scale)

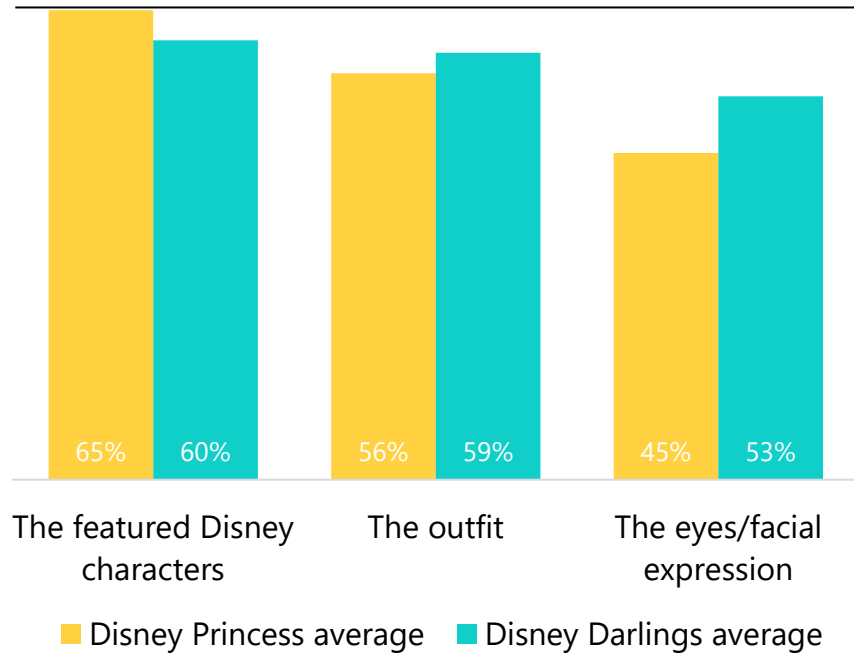

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B6. Firstly, how appealing would you say this range of nurturing dolls is for your daughter aged [pipe: S4C]?

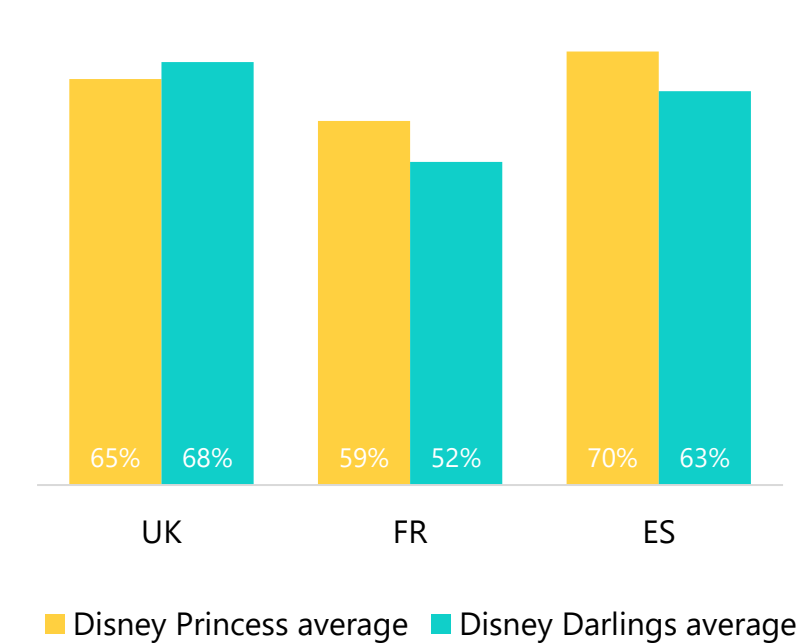

Role of Princess: Characters strong

This is despite the fact that Disney Princess characters are preferred to Disney Darlings

Appeal of individual features, post image/video
Total

Appeal of featured Disney characters, post image/video
Total

UK the exception, where Darlings characters rated more highly – though this is driven purely by Princess Core, who's characters aren't felt to be as instantly recognisable

“ They are really cute but aren't completely recognisable as Disney characters- belle wearing a pink tiara could be off putting

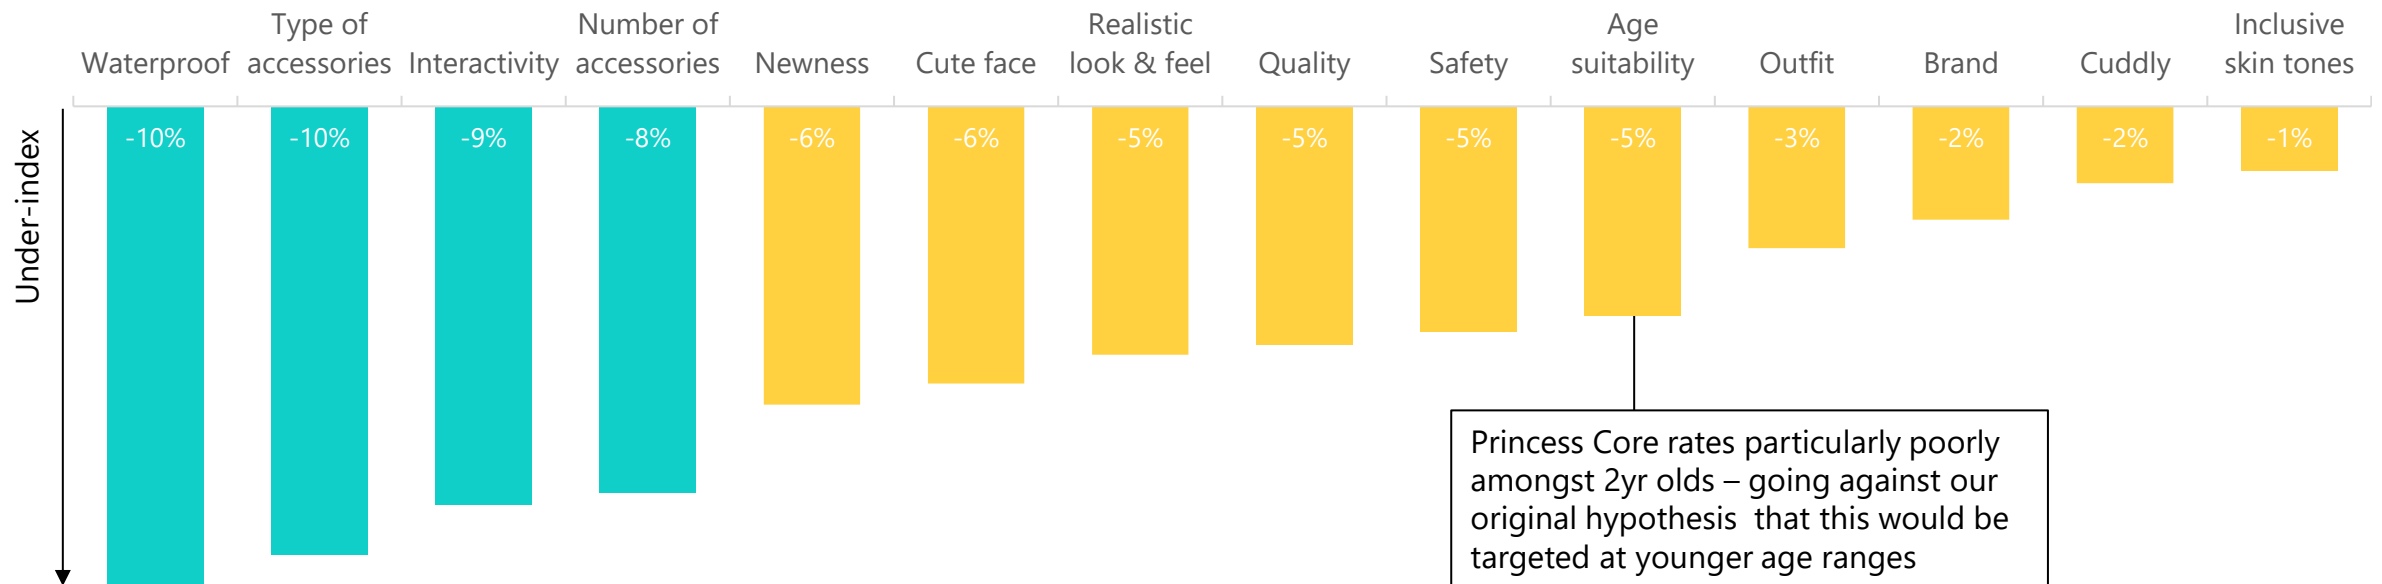

“ She likes princesses but wouldn't know the characters

Role of Princess: Core particularly weak

Princess Core struggles the most, failing to win on any measure – the lack of interactivity is the main drawback compared to the other ranges

'Excellent' rating – Princess Core

Total vs other ranges

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B9. How would you rate this range on each of the below? Please base answers on your perceptions or expectations of the doll from the image shown – it's your gut feel we're interested in!

Role of Princess: Unrealistic style divisive

The dolls' cartoon-like design is also a deterrent, with oversized eyes in particular limiting empathy – feeling at odds with 'nurturing doll' classification

Princess Core rated well on gut feel, but once shown more detail and positioned as a 'nurturing doll', it struggled – look and feel lacking the nurturing aspect

Those scoring 0-3 for Disney Princess Core
Total (all markets)

“My daughter personally prefers more life-like baby dolls to play with, rather than ones like these

“They don't look like something you'd nurture

“I don't think they are 'nurturing' dolls. You can't bottle feed them, change their nappy etc. That's what my daughter loves doing

“The eyes. Oh my god. I hate the eyes so much. Why do they look like that? Fix the eyes and I'd buy them. My God.

“The dolls feel more like princesses than realistic nurturing babies

“They are a bit spooky and weird. The problem is that the eyes are too big

This also a problem for Princess Bath, but seemingly more detrimental to Core, as the lowest scoring range of all 4 tested

Source:

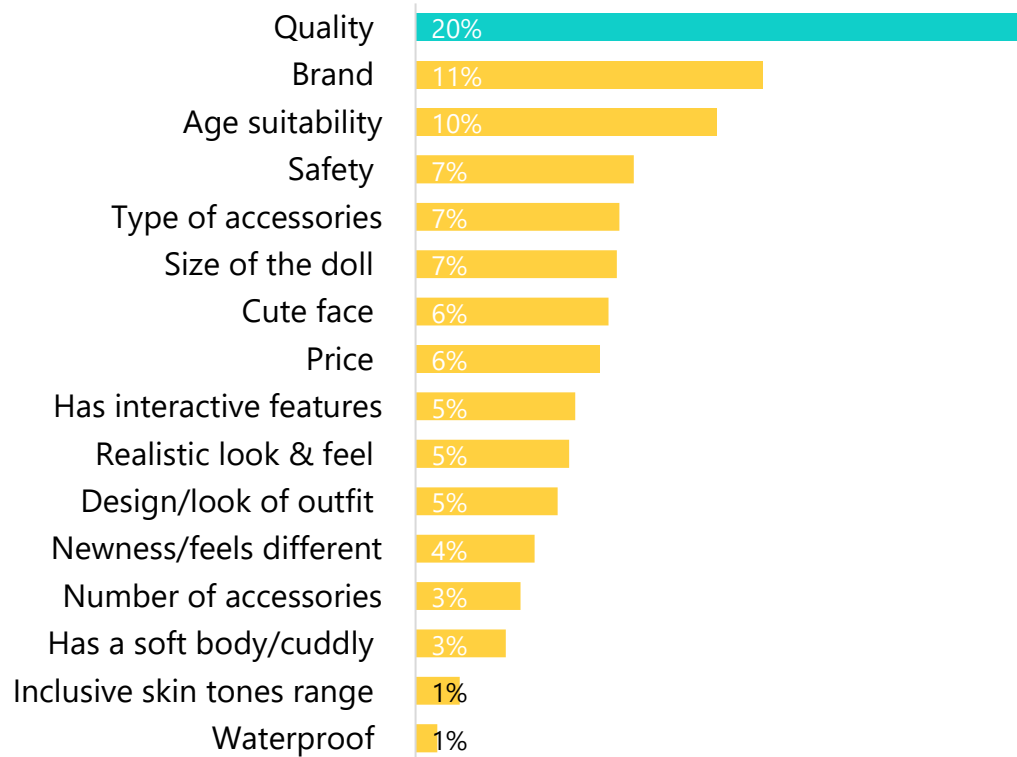

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B7. You scored this range of nurturing dolls [SCORE FROM B6]. Please tell us why? The more detail the better – we'd love to know what you like about the range, and what you don't like.

Role of Princess: Quality questioned

Whilst perception of quality for Princess Core also lags behind other Disney ranges - a challenge for success given this is a Key Driver of satisfaction

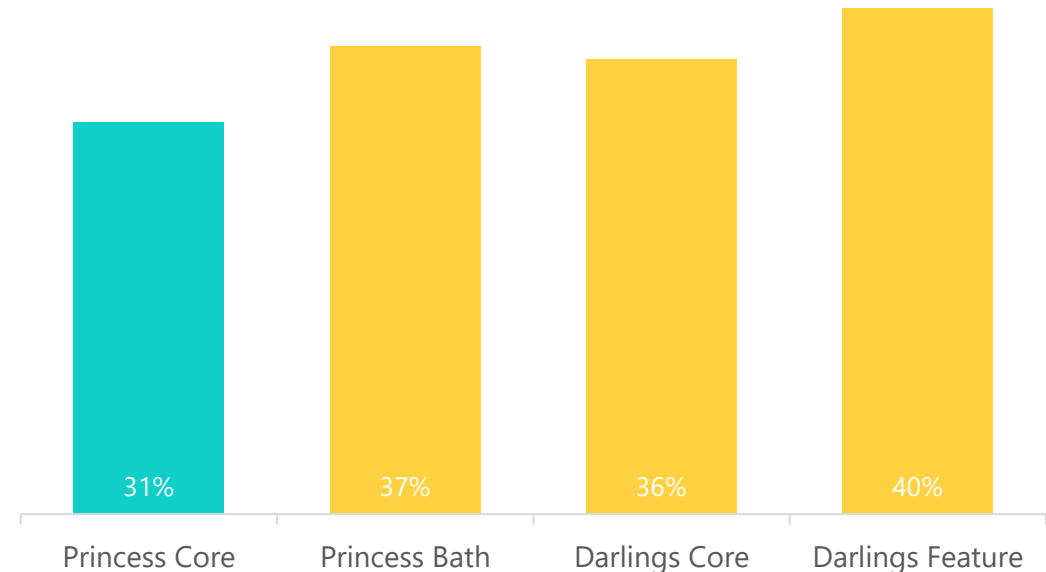

Revealed importance (Key Drivers Analysis)

Total

'Excellent' rating, post image/video – Quality

Total

Source:

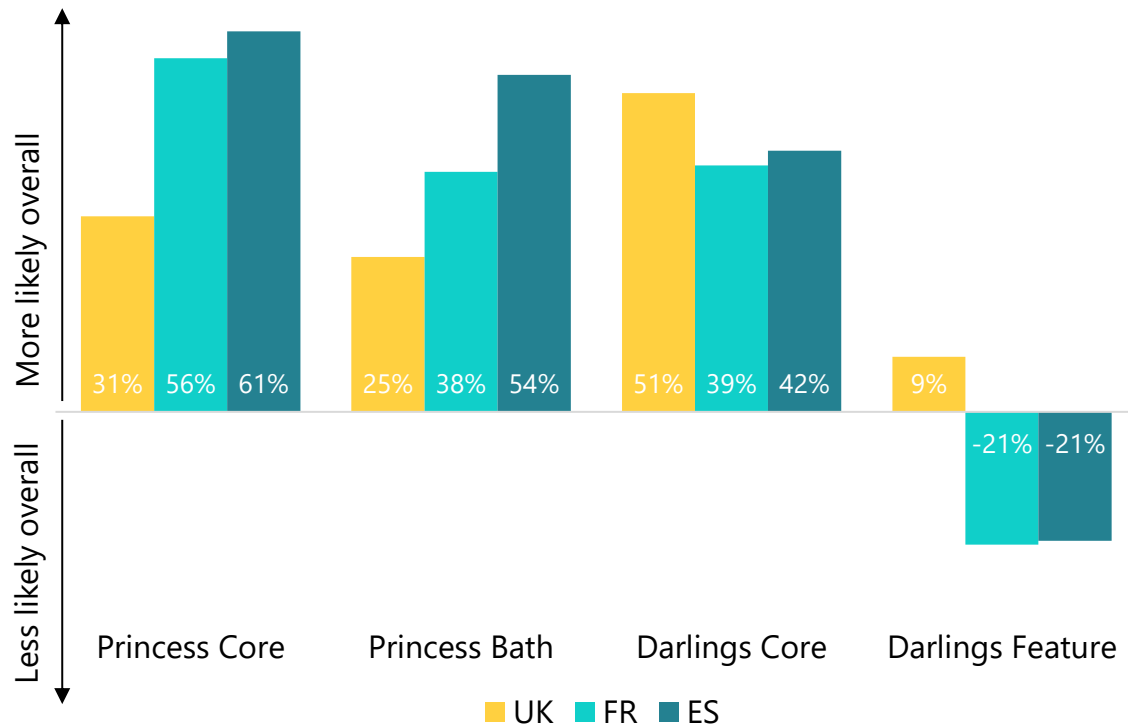

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B9. How would you rate this range on each of the below? Please base answers on your perceptions or expectations of the doll from the image shown – it's your gut feel we're interested in! Key Drivers Analysis - A15. Thinking about the doll you bought, how satisfied are you with your purchase? A16. Thinking about the doll you bought, how would you rate it on each of the below?

Role of Princess: But price a USP

The strength of Princess Core, however, is its lower price point – a clear selling point that could help offset concerns around quality

Impact on likelihood to buy, once price is revealed

Total, NET (top 2 minus bottom 2, on a 5-point scale)

Position this as a low-cost Disney option to compete with lower end rivals options such as Baby Born or Calinou

Given Princess Core appeals to a more niche audience, we'd suggest less marketing investment here too – focussing on promoting Disney Darlings, with the assumption that those who are open to Princess will find it organically

Baby Born - £13.99

Baby Annabell - £13.99

Baby Pelones - 16.95 euros

Calinou - 19.99 euros

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B13. The cost of each doll in this range is [pipe: B13_pipe_1]. How does this impact your decision?

KOKORO

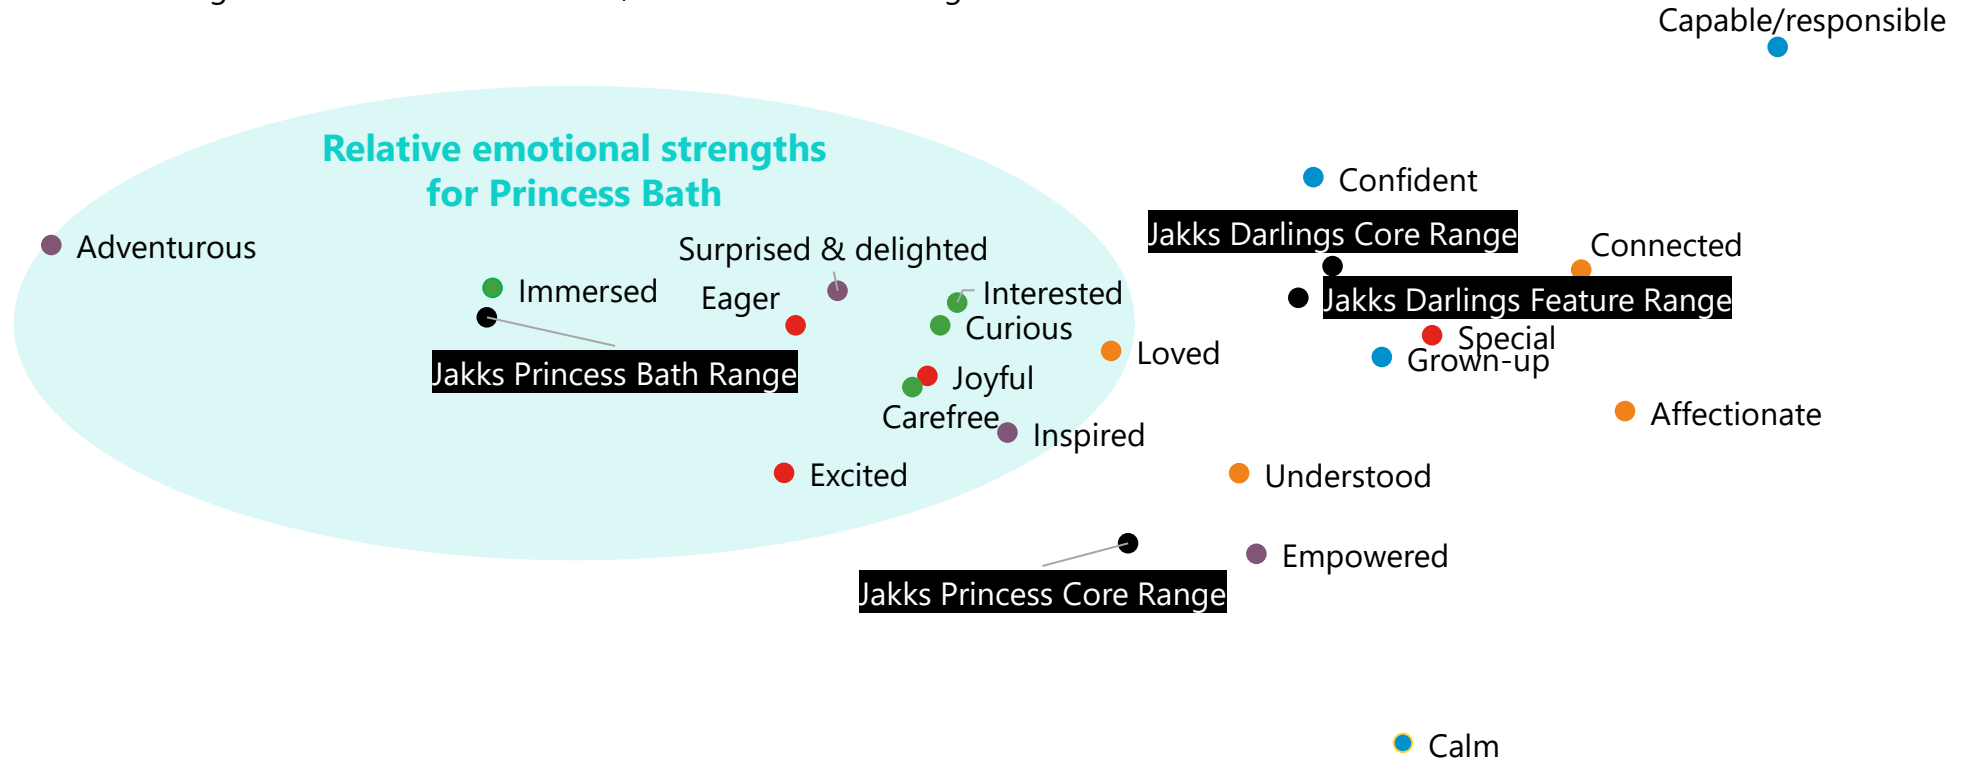

Role of Princess: Bath plays a unique role

Turning to Princess Bath, bath play is strongly associated with immersion – serving a different need to other Disney ranges

Map of associations between Disney ranges and the feelings they evoke, post image/video

Total

NB. The closer a range is to a feeling, the higher it's relative strength e.g. Princess Core is not necessarily the highest ranking doll on 'Empowered', but when looking at Princess Core in isolation, this is one of it's stronger metrics

Source:

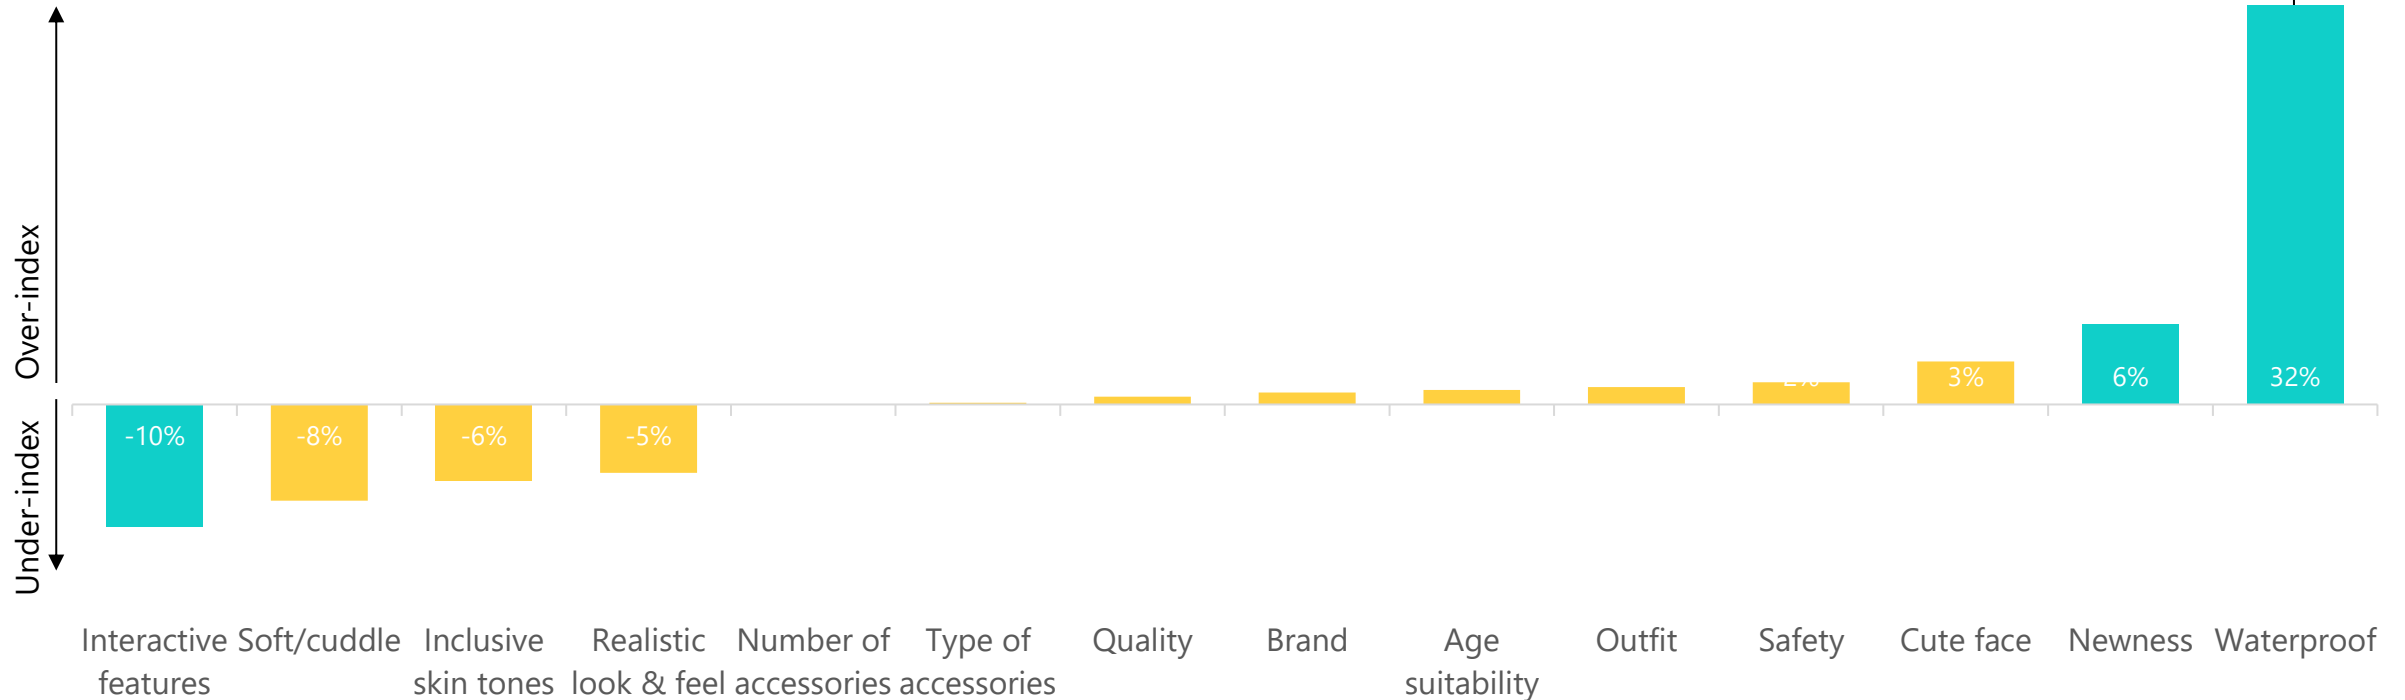

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B11. How might your daughter feel, if given one of the dolls from this range?

Role of Princess: But still struggles to wow

But although waterproof element feels new and unique for a nurturing doll, it lacks any other differentiators

'Excellent' rating, post video – Princess Bath vs other ranges

Total vs other ranges

Note: from the Key Driver Analysis this is the least important feature when it comes to choosing which doll to buy, so despite its high score, it holds little weight (though slightly more in ES)

Ranked importance out of 16: UK 16th, FR 15th, ES 10th

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B9. How would you rate this range on each of the below? Please base answers on your perceptions or expectations of the doll from the image shown – it's your gut feel we're interested in!

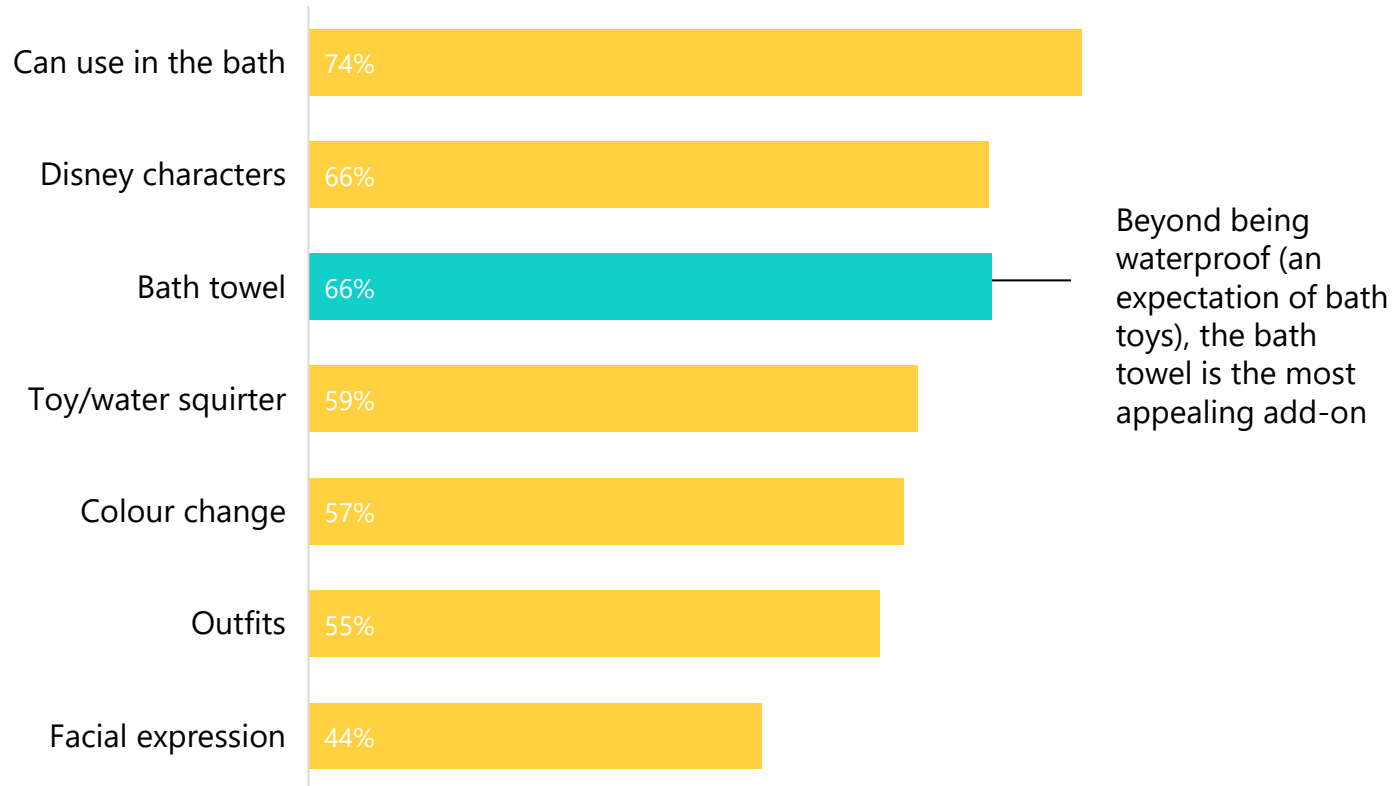

KOKORO

Role of Princess: Dial up features & outfit

Bath towel accessory is a good start, though there's a need to ramp up accessories to keep up with competition

Appeal of individual features post image/video - Princess Bath

Total

There's a need for more accessories overall

Total, Princess Bath, UK/FR/ES

I like its accessories, but they seem too simple and not very original

I like the doll's face but they could add more accessories, there are very similar dolls

Very unrealistic and won't teach skills such as nursing or care. I can tell its very poor quality as well and has barely any accessories too.

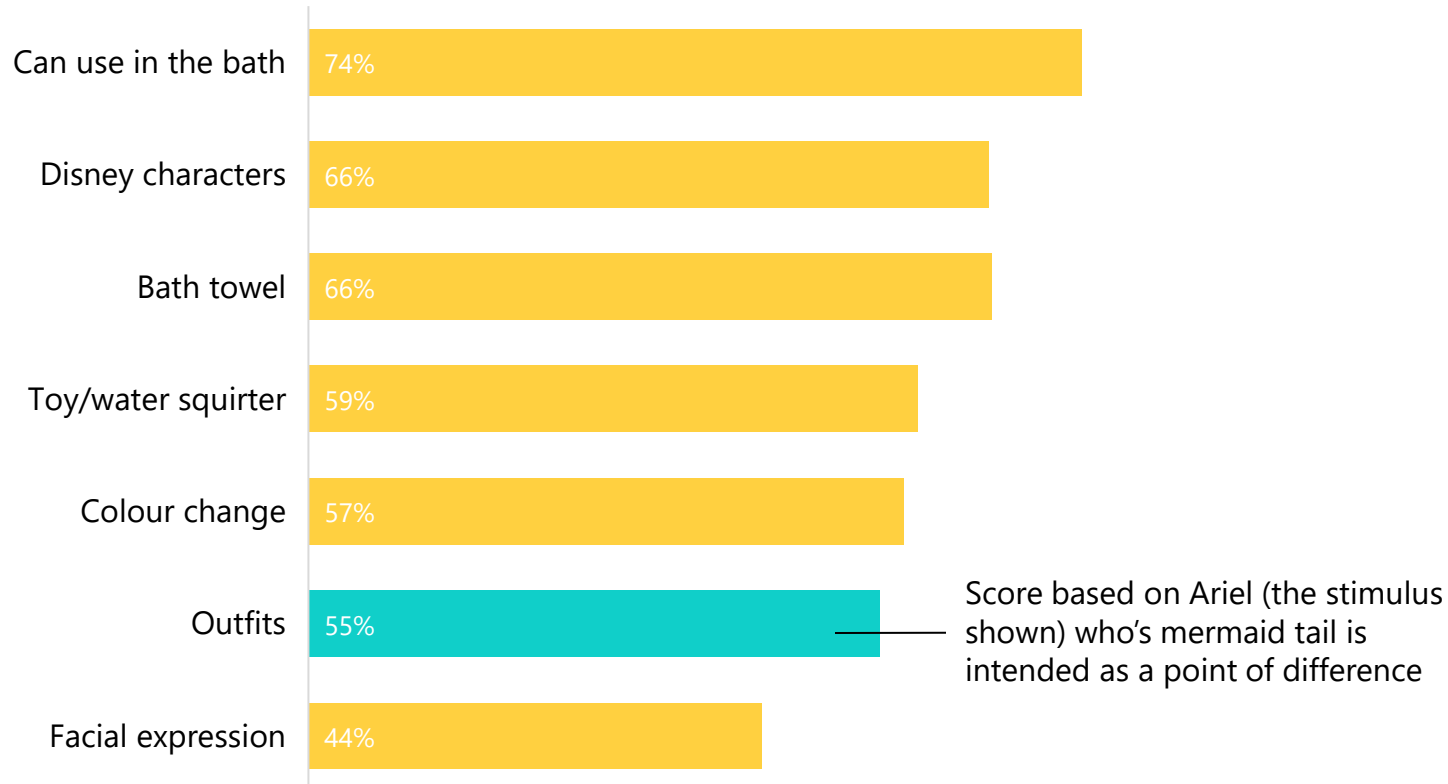

Role of Princess: Dial up features & outfit

Outfit is a weaker point even with the mermaid tail - Princess Bath outfit scored lowest, so improvements could boost appeal slightly

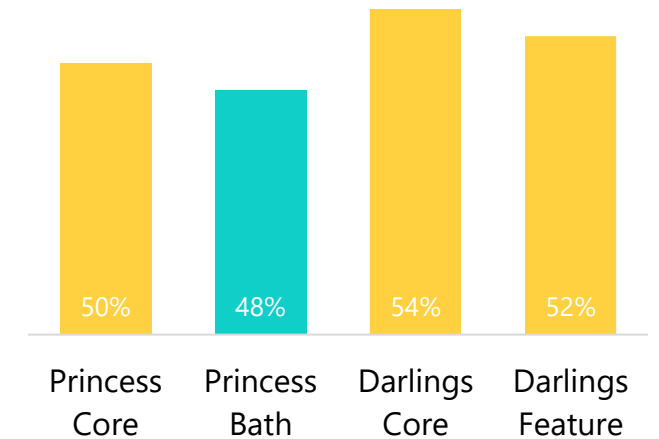

Appeal of individual features post image/video - Princess Bath

Total

Appeal of individual features, post image/video - Outfit

Total

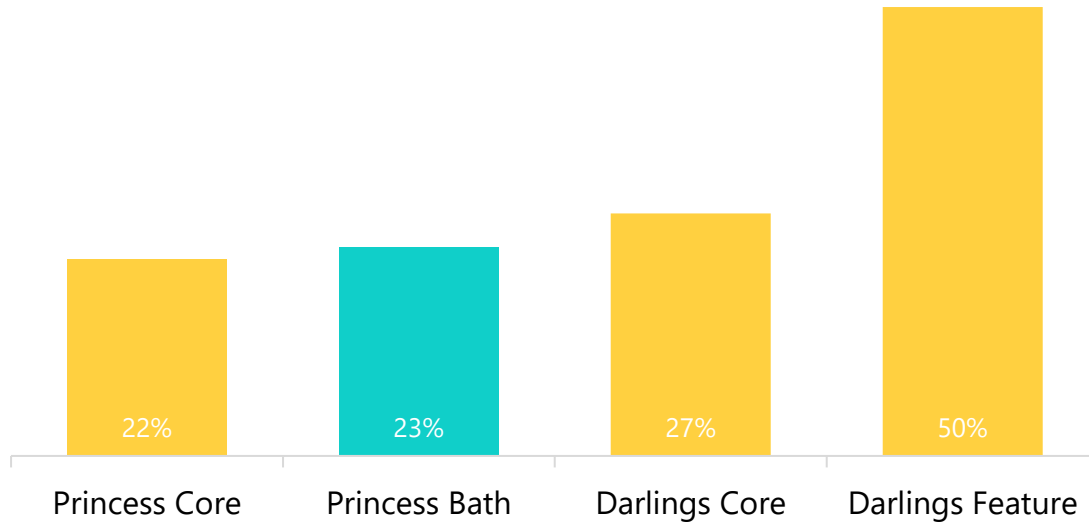

Outfit more appealing in Spain vs other markets though (61% vs 52%)

Role of Princess: Dial up features & outfit

Plus, with so much competition in the bath category, simple outfit changes won't be enough to drive play here

Princess Bath underperforming on interactive features

'Has interactive features', post image/video
Total

With other bath toys, and even other dolls, able to do much more

“I didn't catch it did anything when it got wet? Seems kind of boring and stiff”

“We have a water doll that moves and swims, these don't seem as interactive”

Perhaps an opportunity to dial up nurturing elements here

For example, leaning into 'bath time' element of caring for babies – with accessories such as shampoo or bath oil

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B10. And how appealing would the below features be to your daughter? B7. You scored this range of nurturing dolls [SCORE FROM B6]. Please tell us why? The more detail the better – we'd love to know what you like about the range, and what you don't like.

KOKORO

Summary and recommendations

Recommendations

Darlings Feature

Darlings Core

Princess Core

Princess Bath

Across all markets

- Stands out for realistic look and leads on quality
- But price feels high – to lower, consider whether any features could be dropped e.g. birth certificate and light up wand
- Add (cheaper) extras such as interchangeable outfits to position range at older kids
- Make interactivity clear on packaging to hit full potential

- Feels too similar to Darlings Feature
- Deprioritise some features & accessories to create clear distinction; glow in the dark cheeks and birth certificate
- Target younger children, to broaden reach of Darlings Range (given Darlings Feature should be aimed at older group)

- Favourable characters, but lowest scoring range, with quality and lack of interactivity the biggest drawbacks
- Cartoony look and feel also deters – particularly eyes
- Retain as a smaller, less mass-appeal range
- Celebrate lower cost - in turn justifying lower quality

- Bath play drives immersion and feels unique
- But beyond being waterproof, lacks engagement and USP
- Dial up outfit and accessories
- Add more interactive elements to compete with rivals – perhaps leaning into the nurturing elements of bath time and the sense of care around this

Market nuances

- Lower price further in FR and ES, as deemed too expensive for the quality and brand cues not enough to justify spend
- Celebrate realistic interactivity in FR, where Corolle sets the tone for realism

- Consider lower distribution in FR, where Darlings Core is the least favourite range
- Or, if keeping in FR, improve quality perceptions of outfit – material, skirt and blanket currently deter

- Consider greater distribution in FR, where Princess is just as appealing as Darlings
- In the UK, continue to focus distribution in discounters and value-led stores, given low price point is a draw

- Consider greater distribution in FR, where Princess is just as appealing as Darlings
- As well as in ES, where waterproof elements, whilst still not of top importance, is a bigger driver vs other markets

—Order of appeal—

Appendix

Appendix

Visuals of competitors tested (B0)

UK

France

Spain

Appendix

Visuals of competitors tested (B14)

UK - Core

FR - Core

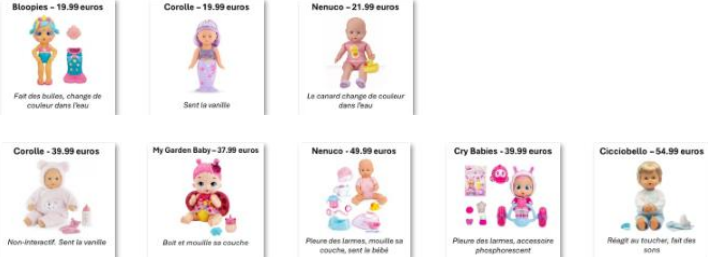

ES - Core

UK - Feature

FR - Feature

ES - Feature

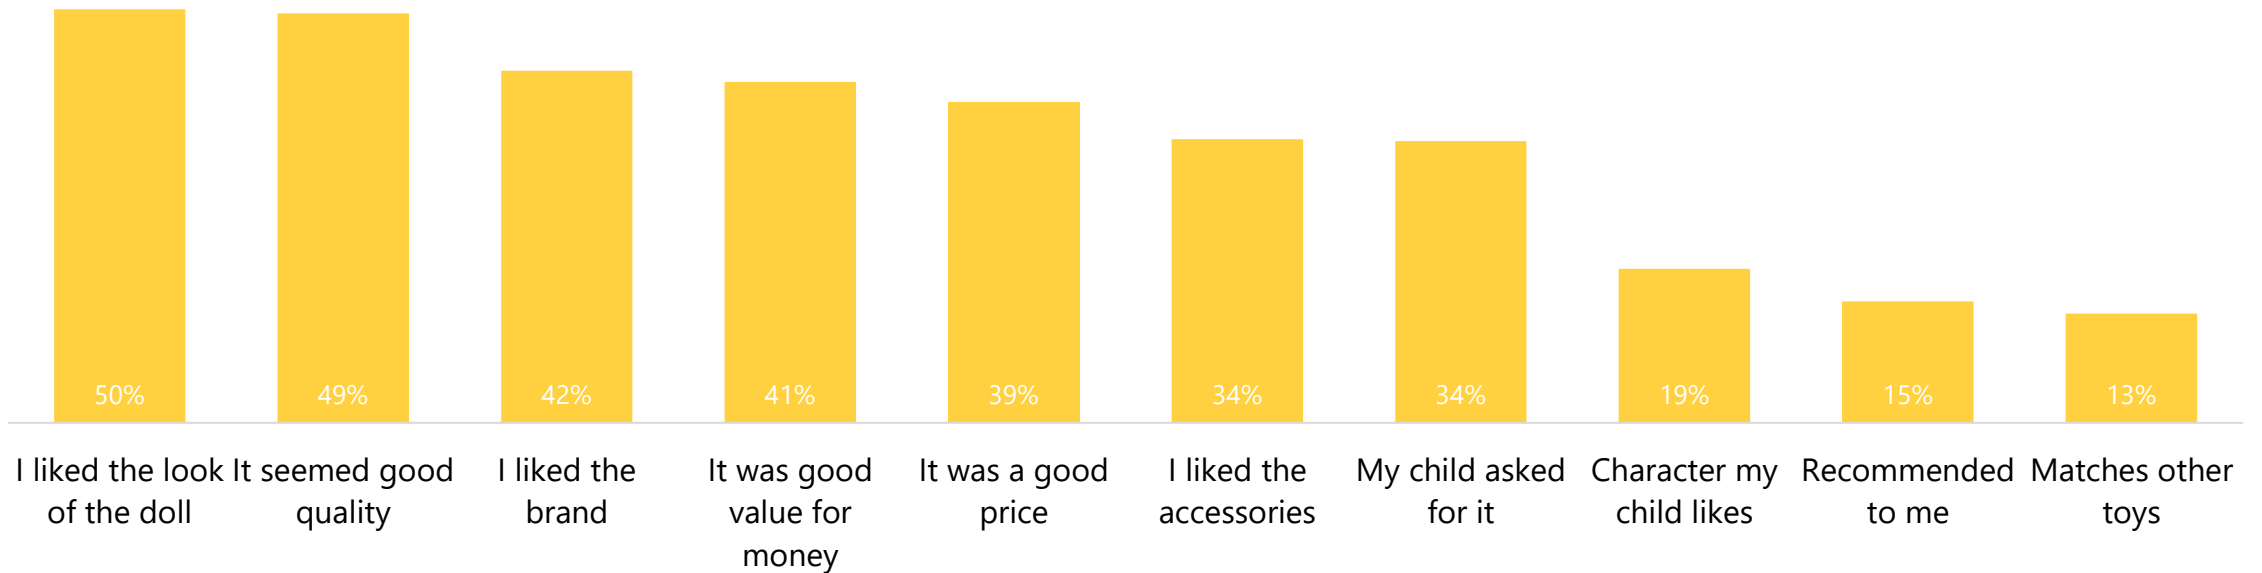

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B14. Below are some more dolls, including the Disney range you’ve just seen. If you were looking for a new doll for your daughter, which, if any, of these ranges would you consider buying? Please think about the whole range, not just this specific doll. For example, it could be a different character, skin tone or hair colour to the one shown here.

Appendix

Reasons for recent purchase align closely with Key Drivers – drawn in by appearance, quality and brand

Reasons for recent purchase

Total

Appendix

Across the ranges tested, all tap into special occasion space - highlighting relevance for key moments and celebrations

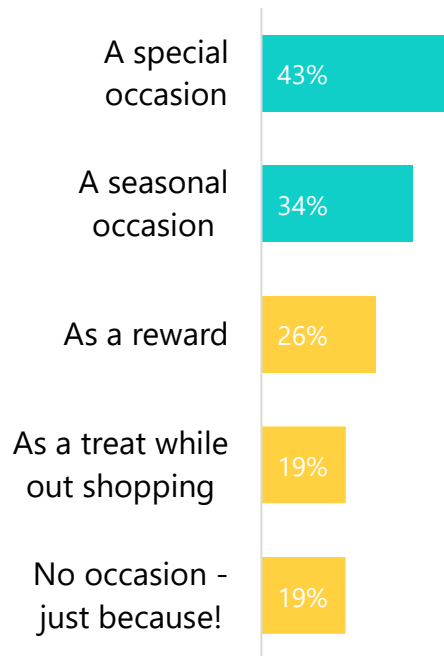

Occasions considered

Top 5, Total

Disney Princess Core

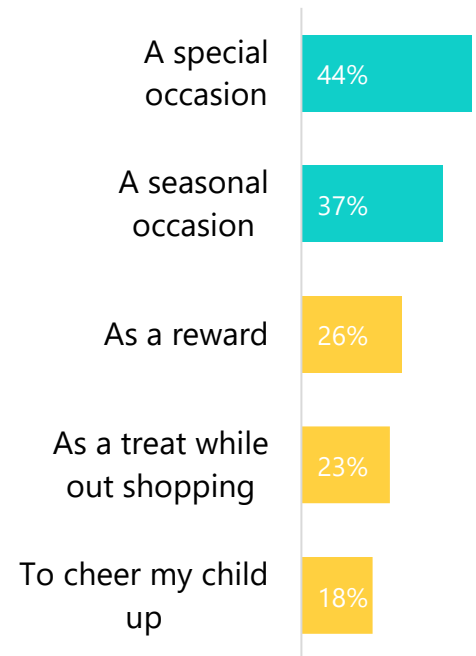

Disney Princess Bath

Disney Darlings Core

Disney Darlings Feature

Source:

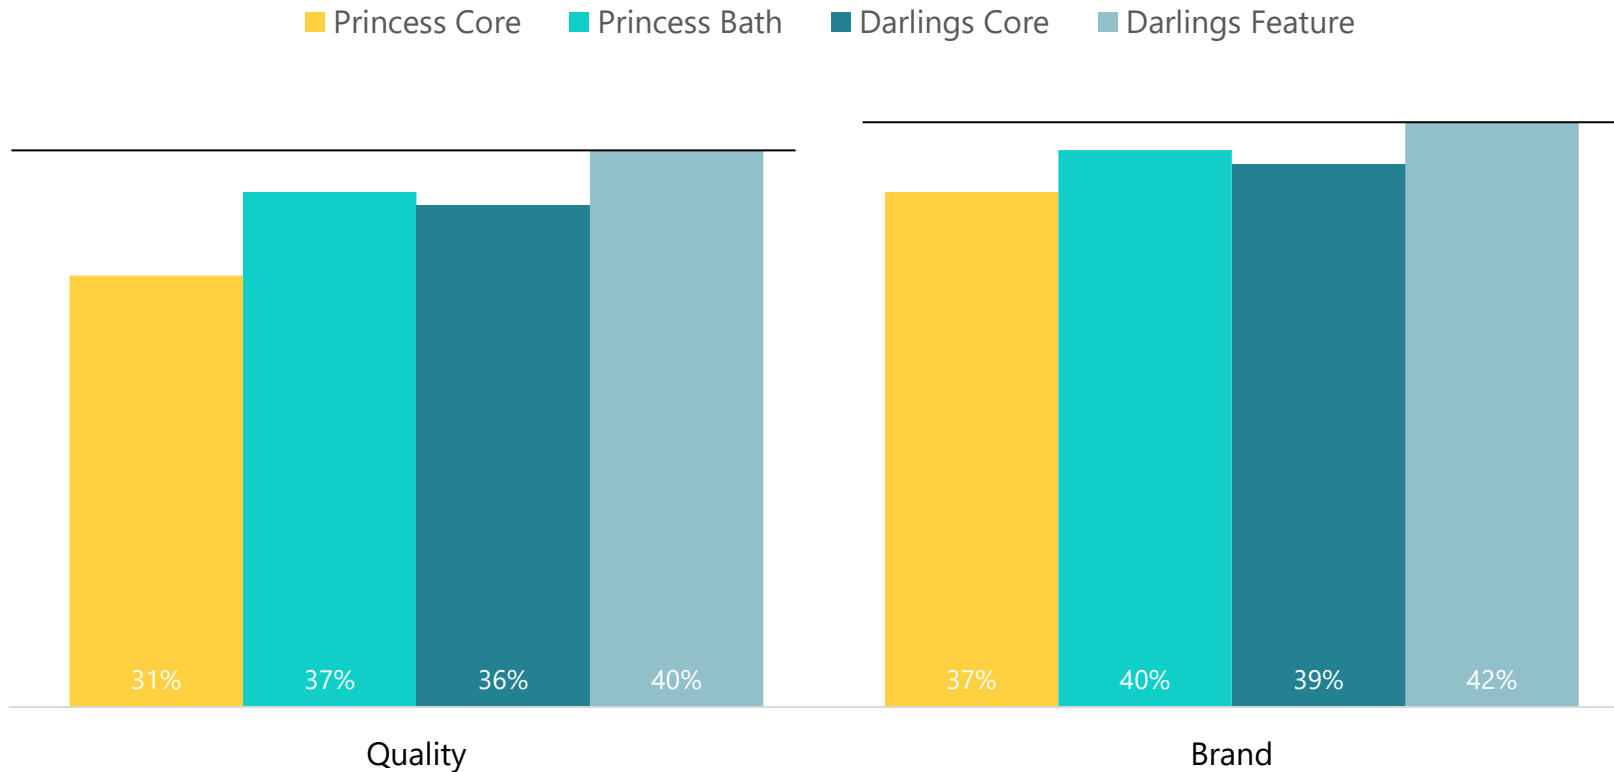

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B8. What might you buy a doll from this range for?

Appendix

Darlings Feature leads on quality (at a total level) – on the surface brand cues look to be especially strong for this range

'Excellent' rating

Total

Of all the ranges, Disney branding stands out most for Darlings Feature - likely due to the actual characters featured on the pyjamas, compared to Disney Princess' subtle nods towards them (especially Core)

The visibility of the characters available also adds to the appeal

I didn't know Disney dolls were like that. When I hear or read about Disney, I think of Mickey and Minnie. I thought they were cute and funny

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – B9. How would you rate this range on each of the below? Please base answers on your perceptions or expectations of the doll from the image shown – it's your gut feel we're interested in! B7. You scored this range of nurturing dolls [SCORE FROM B6]. Please tell us why? The more detail the better – we'd love to know what you like about the range, and what you don't like.

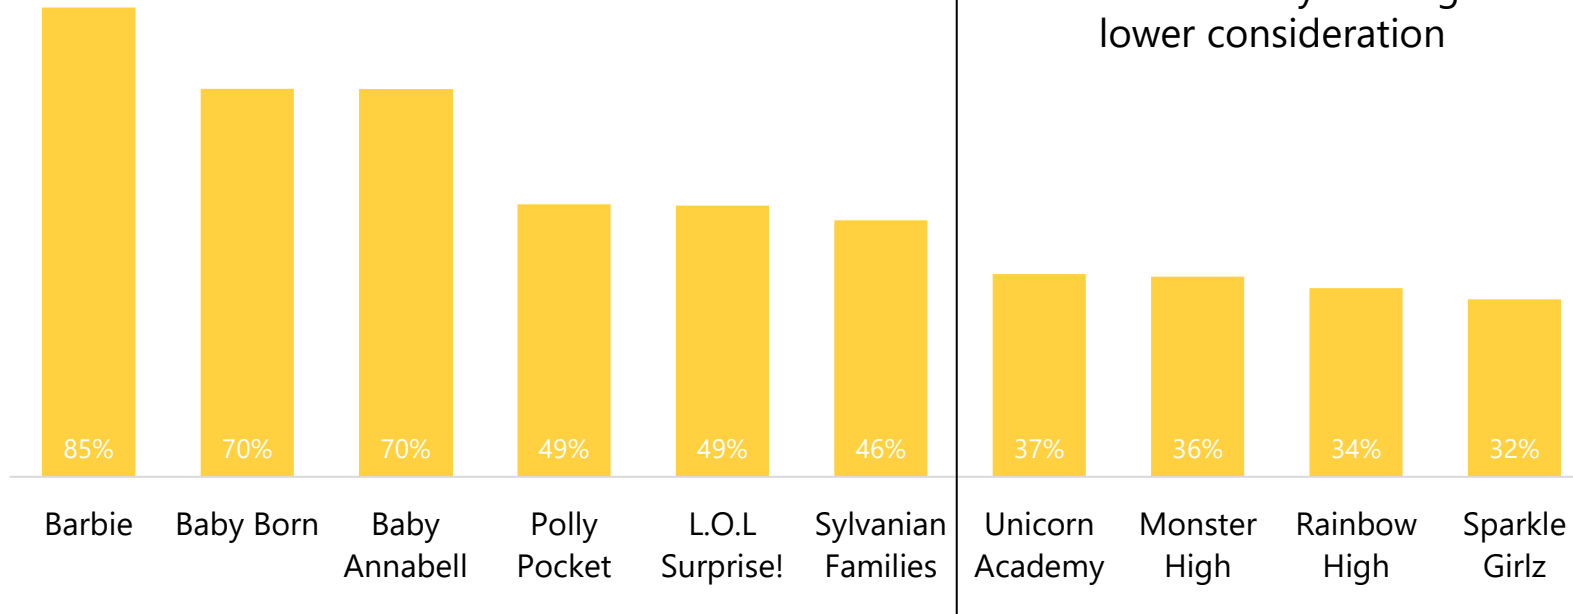

KOKORO

Appendix

Whereas Princess Core has less mainstream appeal - 'cartoony' appearance attractive to a smaller subset of customers

Brands considered

Total UK

Those who have bought Disney Princess Core also more likely to buy cartoon-like dolls

Source:

Kokoro Global Disney Dolls Online Survey – S7. Thinking about dolls in general, which of these brands would you consider buying? A2. Which of the following Disney dolls or Disney nurturing/baby dolls have you bought?

plug in

K O K O R O